

Gerald A. Cadden Had Long Illness

Gerald A. Cadden, 60, resident of Harveys Lake for the past 13 years, died Thursday morning at Veterans Hospital after a long illness.

He was buried Saturday morning in St. Mary's Cemetery, following a Requiem Mass in St. Mary's Church, Wilkes-Barre.

Born in Scranton, son of the late Michael and Mary Hill Cadden, he was associated with his father for many years in the house-moving and construction business. In this area, he moved a number of houses in preparation for building of the Nanticoke by-pass. Six years ago he retired because of ill health. He was a graduate of Pennsilvania State College and Rutgers University. At Harveys Lake, he was a member of Our Lady of Victory Chapel and its Holy Name Society. He belonged to the American Legion and was a fourth degree Knight of Columbus.

During World War II, he saw service with the Army in Trinidad.

Surviving are: his widow, the former Catherine Gallagher, principal of the Mackin School, East End; brothers Raymond and Leo, both of Scranton.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Joseph Hackling wishes to thank friends and neighbors who eased the burden of the bereavement with kindly acts of personal service and expressions of sympathy.

Death Releases Mrs. Helen Wirt

Former Librarian Dies In New Jersey

Former Back Mountain Librarian Mrs. Prosper D. Wirt was released from suffering last Monday, dying in Toms River, N.J. after an agonizing illness.

Mrs. Wirt, who succeeded Miriam Lathrop last October, less than a year ago, spent only six months in the office of librarian, leaving in early spring when an injury to her spine had become malignant.

She left a definite imprint on the Library. It was her planning which turned former living quarters on the second floor of the main building into bright rooms for use of the public, and a much needed private office for the librarian. The move, carried out with help of members of the board and volunteers, meant abandonment of some unsuitable small rooms on the ground floor, and realization of a long desired clearing of a larger space for the reception desk.

Mrs. Wirt was able to enjoy the changes for only the briefest of weeks before being stricken with rapidly advancing illness. For the last months of her life she was confined to a wheelchair.

A number of members of the Library Board kept up with Mrs. Wirt after she left. It was through Mrs. Thomas Heffernan that the news of her death was received.

Helen Wirt was born in Minnesota of Danish parentage.

A graduate of Carlton College, Minnesota, she had been a librarian in Ocean County, New Jersey, living at Toms River. When a former illness dictated leaving this position, she accepted the office at Back Mountain Memorial Library. She lived in an apartment on Lehman Avenue.

She leaves her husband Prosper, a free-lance writer who made several trips to Dallas; and a son John, an attorney practicing in New York City. There are three grandchildren.

Thanksgiving Day Means More Than Usual This Year Of 1962

Thanksgiving means more than usual this year. We have had a narrow escape from an atomic war. Nobody knows quite how narrow. We are thankful.

The crisis in Cuba a few weeks ago did not touch this community so closely as it did communities in the prime target areas of Washington, New York and Boston. Residents did not hold their breath and plan evacuation of their children, or resign themselves to perhaps never seeing those children again when they left on the school bus for school each morning during that tense week of international strain.

We are thankful for so many things. So many small comforts of life that we would not enjoy if we were in a bomb shelter. So many things that we take completely for granted . . . blue sky and bright sunshine, the whiteness of the snow, freedom to walk along a country road, the privilege of roaming through a well-stocked grocery store, warmth and hot water. The list is endless.

We are thankful that we were not called upon to submit to the hardships of war.

We pray that we may never be called upon.

But that if we are called upon, we will be given strength.

Adrian Taylor Was Expert Marksman

Adrian S. Taylor, 70, died Thursday afternoon at his home on Warden Place after a long illness. Ten years ago, he had been at the point of death. The determination which was his main characteristic pulled him through, the same will to conquer circumstances that had taught him to walk again, and almost without a limp, after a serious knee injury while employed by the Bryant Ice Company at Meeker.

Sportsmen who met Mr. Taylor at shooting matches will remember him as an expert marksman, winner of trophy after trophy. Until his eyes began to fail, he was almost unbeatable, downing many famous marksmen. When ill health crept up on him and his eyes were no longer good, he turned from hunting to fishing, and came back with many a fine catch, when men who had fished the same waters were unsuccessful.

For the first time since 1948, the family was all together at the time of his funeral. The son who lived the farthest distance, Grand Prairie, Texas, closed his own garage in order to be at Harveys Lake during the last weeks of his father's illness.

Mr. Taylor was born at Harveysville, son of the late John and Catherine Bowman Taylor. He had lived at Harveys Lake since 1933.

Geist of Plymouth in conducting services on Saturday from the Bronson Funeral Home. Rev. Jones, now of Shavertown, has been a fast friend of the family for many years. Burial was in the family plot at Mt. Greenwood.

Mrs. Gregory was a great student of the Bible, spending hours each day in reading. She was a member of Valley View Chapel, Larksville.

Born in Scranton, she was a daughter of Elvira and the late Evan H. Reese. Her husband Hendrick died in 1947.

Surviving are: a son Benjamin, Idetown; sisters, Mrs. Ann Gering, Mifflinville; Mrs. Ethel Lewis, Mia Reese, Mrs. Martha Shellhammer, Mrs. Lucille Jones, and brothers William and John all of Plymouth; an aunt Ann Gabriel, Scranton.

Mrs. Margaret Gregory Dies At 81 In Idetown

Mrs. Margaret R. Gregory, 81, resident of Idetown for the past thirty-seven years, died Wednesday night at her home. Not in rugged health for several years, she had been taken seriously ill a month before her death.

A ninety-year old minister, Rev. John J. Jones, assisted Rev. Henry

Lies In State At Trucksville Church

Mrs. Marion Louise Marth, 51, died Wednesday afternoon at Nesbit Hospital where she had been admitted Monday night by Kingston Township ambulance, suffering from complications of diabetes.

Saturday morning she lay in state at Trucksville Methodist Church, where she had been Sunday School superintendent for seven years, and a mainstay of the choir. Rev. Robert Germond and Rev. Robert D. Webster, present and former ministers of Trucksville Methodist, officiated. Burial was at Cedarcrest.

Mrs. Marth, daughter of the late Charles A. and Nellie Anderson Reese, was born in Trucksville in the same home on Carverton Road in which she lived for the rest of her life.

Her husband Harold died in 1944.

She is survived by a daughter Marilyn, at home; a brother Samuel Reese, Harrisburg; three sisters: Mrs. Samuel Lawson and Mrs. Helen Moore, Trucksville and Mrs. Ann Knorr, Harrisburg; an aunt, Mrs. Arch Woolbert, Trucksville.

Arrangements were by Harold Snowdon, Kingston.

and was a member of Alderson Methodist Church.

He is survived by his widow, the former Rosie Pahler; twelve children: Robert, Texas; Mrs. Katherine Gibson, Harveys Lake; Ralph, Earl, Merle and Ervin, all of Syracuse; Mrs. Alice Covert, Loyalville James; Shavertown; Alfred and Mrs. Esther Kostich, Detroit; Charles, Kingston; aul, Idetown; 26 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren; sisters: Mrs. Anna Winter, Meeker; Mrs. Mae Conway, Trucksville; Mrs. Claudine Daley, Harveys Lake.

Twin girls born to the couple in 1933, died in infancy.

Five of his sons fought in the Second World War, two in the Korean War.

The funeral was held on Monday, with burial at Lehman. Rev. David R. Morgan officiated from the Bronson Funeral Home.

Services Wednesday For Mrs. Elizabeth Moore

Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, 91, a former Ross Township teacher at Hook and Mooretown, died at the home of her daughter-in-law Mrs. Cecil Moore, Sweet Valley, Saturday afternoon after a long illness. Services are scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at 2 P.M. at Rev. E. W. Waterstripe, Rev. William Hughes, and Rev. C. H. Frick officiating. Burial will be at Maple Grove.

Mrs. Moore was daughter of the late Cavalier and Martha Moss. She was educated at Pleasant Hill Academy, teaching school before marriage to Giles Moore, who with a son Emmett was killed in a train wreck near Mehoopany in 1935, when their loaded coal truck was struck. Another son, Cecil, died last year of a heart attack, and a fifteen year old boy was lost to diphtheria in 1917.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Moore moved from Forkston back to Sweet Valley. For a time she belonged to Huntsville Christian Church, but of later years was a member of Sweet Valley Church of Christ and its Ladies Bible Class.

One of her delights was the piecing of beautiful quilts.

She leaves three grandchildren, three great-grandchildren; a brother Harvey Moss, Huntsville, and a sister Mrs. Cora Schmol, Kingston.
