Have You Heard about Mortgage Protection Insurance?

When there's a mortgage on your home, one of your chief duties is to see that those important monthly installments are paid on time. When you're disabled (maybe for months) and CAN'T EARN, who's going to make those mortgage payments for you? In such an emergency, wouldn't it be a comfort to have your insurance company "pick up the tab" for your monthly installments during the time when you're disabled? Our Disability Income policy can provide monthly benefits which are equal to the amount of your mortgage installments. May we explain just how this plan works?
