PENNSYLVANIA HILLS NO. THE AUTUMN color is all gone. But the sky was so blue that we took a/ride in the afternoon. "Where is there a road we haven't been on recently?" asked Ruth.

Right off I said, "The Suscon road." So up the Suscon road we climbed. Had it been a crystal clear day on the lower levels there would have been a panoramic view from up there that would have made us pull off to see. For from down on route 92 near our road's access you can see the Suscon road climbing over the far hills like a gray strip of something. The valley was full of un-blown mist and smoke so we didn't pull off to look back.

WHY NOT BUY HER AN Electric DRYER

Pop didn't marry a weight lifter. But Mom might think differently when she has to lift 2 tons of wet clothes each year-plus walk 40 miles back and forth to hang those wet clothes on a line to dry. And even then, the wash doesn't dry as it should.

So, why not give Mom a break and buy her an ELECTRIC dryer?

It will save her tons of liftingmiles of walking. Best of all, it will dry her clothes just the way she likes them best!
