Mrs. Ira Burton, E. Overbrook Avenue spent Christmas with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Stewart in E. Stroudsburg.

I think one of the nicest sights anyone will see at this Christmas season is in "our town," Fernbrook, as there is hardly any home that is not bedecked in Christmas lights or some other holiday decorations.

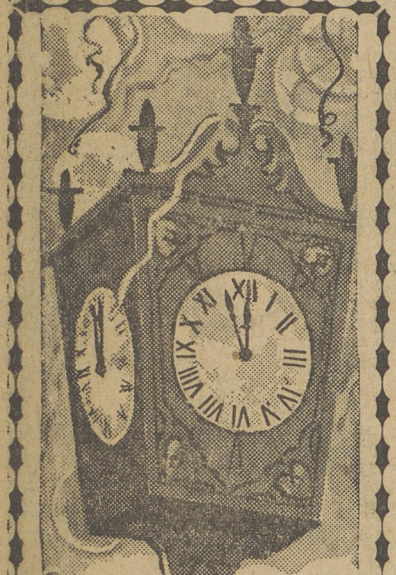

The Missionary Society of the Glenview P. M. Church was entertained on Thursday by Mrs. Andrew Derrick following the business meeting. Gifts were exchanged and refreshments served to Mrs. Charles Seward; Mrs. Anna Compton; Mrs. John Fluck; Mrs. Henry Randall; Mrs. George Shaver, Jr.; Mrs. George Shaver, Sr.; Miss Verna Lamoreaux; Mrs. Roy Moss; Mrs. Corey Crispell.

Mt. Zion

It has always been a principle of mine never to apologize for a sermon I knew was poorly done. The apology would only highlight the poverty of the sermon; and without the apology someone might even think the sermon good! So why should I tell the readers of Dallas Post that I didn't feel like getting out and getting a lot of news? My nose for news was running too fast the past few weeks.

But I was thankful last Sunday that this same nose didn't drip once all day, letting me attend church and Sunday School and the Christmas program at Mt. Zion in the afternoon. My nose didn't run during the Christmas program but my eyes did! For there were two trumpets taking part, one by Larry Earl and the other by Hal Seiple. When in "Joy to the World" Larry did a beautiful descant and Hal accompanied the air my nerves of delight did a double flip, and talk about goose pimples or duck bumps, or chicken skin or whatever you want, I had it! My eyes ran over the way my brother's eyes do when he hears bagpipes. To Ruth I said, "Don't can have his bagpipes; I'll have the trumpets!" Well the whole program was done in fine fashion and everybody was happy. Santa Claus was welcomed by one and all. Who was he? Well, Santa Claus himself of course.

Christmas Caroling

The MYF of Mt. Zion had announced it was going out caroling and if others wanted to join them please assemble at the church. So they did — 35 in all. Howard Dymond drove the bus as he knows how to handle and park it. When they had gone all over the countryside, and in most cases they all piled out and grouped to sing, they returned to the church where two of their number, Jean Hronich and Mildred VanTuyle, had prepared the kind of refreshments needed for sung-out young folks. The occasion took on added interest on account of its being Chucky John's (the counselor) 21st birthday. So they all helped him celebrate. Here's a list of those in the company: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dymond, Linda, Gary and Terry Dymond, Mrs. Clayton Grey, Carol Conklin, Mrs. Wm. Alling, Nancy and Betsy Alling, Mrs. Jack VanTuyle, Jackie and Mark VanTuyle, Mrs. Marie LaBar, Gene and Sharon LaBar, Mrs. Harold Seiple and Hal Seiple, Mrs. Ben Daniels and Donald Daniels, Karen and Michael Hronich, Tommy and Margaret Marcy, Bill Miles, Carol Sutton, Susan LaBar, Nadine VanTuyle, Wayne Scull, Wayman Smith, Michael Bell, Charles Johns, Catherine Gilbert, Mark Yanchunas, Donald Parry, Jean Hronich, Mildred VanTuyle.

My correspondence has spiraled up to a stack of things to do from now on until it is answered. My Gilbert Story which goes to a list of 400 includes relatives on both sides of the house, many friends of Dottie's across the country, former parishioners, has brought many responses by way of appreciations, and many Christmas greetings, all make us realize how many friends we have around the world. No, we are not ready for Christmas, never have been. But Christ did really come. "He came to His own, and they that were His own received Him not." In our own grateful but unworthy way we have received Him and how He has blessed us! Happy New Year!
