Week-End

Many pretty new young faces have been seen at Dallas Senior High School during the past few weeks, as future teachers show what their training has accomplished and become aware of the problems they will face in their professions after graduation. For those who don't understand what student teaching is, it is a time when senior students in college majoring in the teaching profession attend a high school for a number of weeks. At first, they observe each class and study methods used by each teacher. Then, for the remaining time, they teach classes of their major field. When student teaching is completed, the master teacher writes a report on the future teacher. This, with a report written by the student himself, is turned into the college to be evaluated. Student teachers at Dallas are from College Misericordia. They have been doing very well, and we are glad to have them with us.

Today is the day set aside especially for sweethearts and warm friendships. Let's all try and remember to be just a little bit more considerate and thoughtful than usual, and make this the best Valentines Day ever.

Cheerful decorations in the Cafeteria for the Junior's dance last week were so attractive that it was decided to keep them up to spread cheer until after Valentines Day has passed. The decorating committee really went all out to celebrate for "Cupid's Capar."

Keep Walks Clear, Says Our Postmaster

To expedite the delivery of mail on borough delivery routes, it is requested by Postmaster Edward Buckley that property owners keep approaches to their residence clear of ice and snow.

Carriers claim that many residences still have not shoveled their sidewalks. This is one of the requisites for borough delivery. Walks must be kept clear of debris, ice and snow throughout the year.

Postmaster Buckley asks that patrons use their complete address—that is, their complete number and name of street. New patrons are advised to change their address with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles within fifteen (15) days, as required by law, so they will get their applications for automobile tags, due in the near future.
