PANEL ON DELINQUENCY

Last Sunday it was the turn of Orange church to participate in the Social Action clinics being held on the charge. Carverton and Mt. Zion people joined with Orange to make this final meeting a success. There were about 60 people attending. Malcolm Baird was devotional leader. The Orange choir under the leadership of Marie Perrego with Roberta Gardner at the organ provided a musical number for the occasion. Mrs. Perrego was chairman of the Committee on Social Action for Orange church and was in charge of the program. Pastor Reid presented her as moderator of the panel, Charles Johns, Mrs. Henry Hess, and David Wirts.

One fact was brought out which needs to be remembered; it was stated for a fact that only 3 per cent of our young people become involved in delinquency each year, and that 90 per cent of our children will never be classed as delinquent. In Pennsylvania only such young people as are booked in courts as delinquents can be called juvenile delinquents. In our Back Mountain region we do not have juvenile delinquent problems, although we have now and then what can be called incidents. In other words, delinquency is not a habit in our neighborhood. But church people are being alerted to every possible program to help prevent delinquency.
