Death Overtakes Paul Eckert, 60

Fails To Rally After Surgery

Paul Dolan Eckert, 60, Dallas, died following major surgery from which he failed to rally, passing away Wednesday afternoon at Mercy Hospital, where he had been admitted July 6.

Mr. Eckert, proprietor of a flourishing peatmoss business, built his own home on Machell Avenue, taking pride in exact fitting of cabinets and equipment, and painstakingly constructing a spacious modern home far enough from neighbors and traffic so that he could enjoy the visits of woodchucks and squirrels.

For a number of years he was a building contractor, and owner-operator of the Eckert Lumber Company in Shavertown.

He belonged to Dallas Methodist Church, Masonic connections were George M. Dallas Lodge, Caldwell Consistory, and Irem Temple.

A native of Noxen, son of the late Newton and Harriet Taylor Eckert, he was educated in Kingston Township schools.

His brother, Stanley died three months ago.

He leaves his widow, the former Clara Hunt; a son Lee, Lancaster; sisters: Mrs. Naomi Earl, Kingston; Miss Marguerite Eckert, Huntsville; Mrs. Ross Eley, Union, N. Y.; three brothers: Bennitt, Endicott, N. Y.; William, Shavertown; and Fassett, Irvington, N. J.; one grandchild.

Burial was in Idetown Cemetery, following services conducted from the Disque Funeral Home Saturday afternoon, Rev. Russell Lawry officiating.

Frank L. Heslop, 80, Demunds Road, died Sunday night at his home following an illness.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday by Rev. Robert Lukens, assisted by Rev. William Watson. Burial was at Oaklawn, Hanover Township.

Born in South Wilkes-Barre, son of the late Thomas and Ida King Heslop, he lived in Kingston prior to moving to this area two years ago.

Several years ago he was awarded a fifty-year pin by Local 140, American Federation of Musicians. He had been a cornet player in the old 9th Regiment Band and in Oppenheim's Orchestra, one of the old-timers in musical circles.

He belonged to Kingston Methodist Church; Kingston Masonic Lodge, Caldwell Consistory, and Indian Ridge Hunting Club.

From 1909 until 1939 when Kingston Coal Company closed, he was an employee. Four years ago he retired from his self-employment as a registered surveyor.

Missionaries Return From Africa On Leave

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Updyke and family arrived recently at Avoca Airport after three and a half years of missionary service in Ghana, Africa. On hand to greet them were the missionary's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Roland C. Updyke, sister, Beverly Updyke, and aunts, Mrs. Ralph Frantz, Shavertown and Mrs. Walter Tworek, Sweet Valley.

The Updyke family have completed a second term of service in Ghana and are home for a year of furlough after working with the Wala people. In their study of the Wala language they have recently completed a grammar and a translation of portions of the Gospel of Mark. Rev. Updyke has worked in several villages, two of which have seen church buildings erected during his ministry.

One other noteworthy advancement was the Baptist Bible Institute located at Wa, in the Northern Region. Mr. Updyke taught two different classes last school year, Personal Evangelism and Doctrine.

Rev. and Mrs. Updyke served as houseparents for eleven missionary children, attending a small school, taught by Amelia Ridall, sent out for that ministry by the Bible Protestant Church of Shickshinny.

The Updykes with their three children, Amy, Beth, and Bruce, are spending a month with Rev. and Mrs. Roland C. Updyke, Sweet Valley. Early in August, they will make their home in Johnson City, N. Y.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Otletia Titus wishes to thank all those who sent cards and flowers and who offered services in a variety of ways during the recent bereavement. Their concern was deeply appreciated.

Council Of Churches Asks Help For Migrant Workers Arriving

Council of Churches is asking for assistance with the Migrant Workers program, urging residents to contribute materials and workers.

Mrs. John Henninger, Druid Hills Road, will be hostess next Friday morning August 1 at 10:30 to women who are willing to help. She asks that they bring their own sandwiches. Dessert and beverage will be served.

Things that are needed are: toys for pre-school children; materials for scrapbooks; clothing that little girls can play dress-up in; modeling clay, crafts materials suitable for very young children; first-aid and sewing kits. In addition the centers for migrant workers need quilts and blankets.

Over 1,000 migrant workers are expected this season in the three-county area covered by Wyoming Valley Council of Churches. Many workers arrive with no idea of the chill of nights in August, and without sufficient bedding to combat it.

Give Mrs. Henninger a call at 674-7306, and ask her what is needed, and how you can help. These migrants are the strangers within your gates.

Car Lost In Fire

Rev. and Mrs. Warden Updyke, Sr., narrowly escaped injury and burns, when, returning home to Endicott, their automobile caught fire and was completely destroyed. The Updykes had left their summer home at Pike's Creek when the mishap occurred.

Rev. Updyke's brother, Rev. Roland Updyke, Sweet Valley, recently lost a home by fire.

All Free Methodist Pastors Returned

Free Methodist District Conference returned all pastors of the area to their accustomed churches. Assignments were read Sunday afternoon at Free Methodist Camp Ground.

Rev. Ralph Smith remains at Dallas Free Methodist; Rev. Grove Armstrong at Trucksville; Rev. Paul Hosier at Bowmans Creek; Rev. Emery Stokes at Outlet. Conference superintendent is again Rev. Herbert Oliver.

Death Comes As Merciful Release From Suffering And Loneliness

Death brought a merciful end to suffering and loneliness for Mrs. Elsa Schneider, 94, early Monday morning at Valley Crest.

But the cruel fate which had pursued her for many years continued, as county officials refused to provide funds for burial.

A few friends sought and found a sympathetic Wilkes Barre undertaker to provide her with interment, and Mr. Shepherd of Fern Knoll donated a grave as he had done for her husband.

Taken to Laurytown five years ago with her husband when both were unable to care for themselves properly, she was left without any survivors when her husband died at Retreat a year later.

Transferred to Valley Crest when the handsome structure was opened, Mrs. Schneider was happy to be back in Wyoming Valley but longed for her old home, still independent and indomitable as in the past.

Few ever visited her but she was grateful for even an occasional caller.

Poor circulation, growing steadily worse since a broken hip prevented walking, resulted in gangrene. When Mrs. Schneider was sent to General Hospital for treatment, attendants were amazed when she was returned to the institution with nothing done to alleviate the condition.

Antibiotics, tranquilizers and opiates failed to bring relief to the suffering woman, and her lucid mind faltered under the powerful dosage.

Born in Germany, the daughter of a ship builder and his well born wife, the former Elsa Paderatz grew up in culture and comfort. The fortunes of war then sweeping the country resulted in the confiscation of all property and death soon overtook her sister and parents.

Coming to the United States in 1910 to care for an ailing nephew, Miss Paderatz after several years was left without a home and relatives when he too, died. Seeking employment in New York City, she was a child's nurse for several families, becoming a little later the housekeeper for a partially blind gentleman, who had advertised for help.

Adolph Schneider then lived in Connecticut and lost his home when he deeded the property over to a sight-saving organization. Settling in Wilkes Barre, the couple moved shortly to Shavertown where many will remember the little gnarled, old woman, who faithfully led her husband to the city each day, where he earned a few pennies entertaining passersby with his accordion music.

In snow and sunshine, sleet and rain, Mrs. Schneider was his constant companion, trudging up the dark road home, every evening where a master must be fed and cared for. Often in ill health and asking nothing for herself, she never complained of her lot. A blind pension served to keep them on meager rations.

The old lady was once neat and fastidious. Evidence of her beautiful handiwork was found in old articles tucked away carefully and later going with house and contents to the person who held a mortgage on the property.

Mrs. Schneider was buried from the Kniffen Funeral Home Wednesday morning with interment in Fern Knoll Cemetery. Rev. Calvin Humbert, Messiah Lutheran Church officiated.

Mrs. Bessie Schultz Long-Time Resident

Mrs. Bessie Schultz resident of this area since 1929, died Friday afternoon aged 86 at General Hospital, shortly after admission.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon by Rev. James Carra, pastor of Bennett Presbyterian Church, from the Disque Funeral Home, followed by burial at Fern Knoll.

For years she lived on Pioneer Avenue, before closing her home there and going to live with her daughter, Mrs. Clive D. Hope, New Goss Manor. For some time recently she had been a guest at the Bevan Convalescent Home.

A native of Luzerne, she was a member of the 1894 graduating class of Luzerne High School, and later graduated from the Woods Business College in the class of 1896, of which the late Ralph Rood was a member. She studied music at Wyoming Seminary, and was much in demand as a singer. She belonged to Wyoming Valley Oratorical Society and to Bennett Presbyterian Church.

Daughter of the late George and Lydia Pettebone Engle, she was the last survivor of three children. Her husband Bryce was Burgess of Luzerne.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Hope, Dallas; and Mrs. Morgan L. Davies, Greensboro, N. C.; a son, George, St. Louis; nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were George Bronson, Walter Willoughby, Bryce Sanies, Ralph and Russell Engle, and Peter Seward.
