Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruggles Are Married Seventy Years

To reach the amazing total of three score and ten years of nuptial bliss is an accomplishment few couples ever experience.

Living in the Back Mountain Area is a devoted pair, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ruggles, Meeker, who will tomorrow quietly observe their 70th wedding anniversary.

Married in Pike's Creek Methodist Church Parsonage, August 16, 1893, by the Rev. J. W. Rice, the Ruggles' have resided in Meeker all of their married life, in the vicinity where ancestor settlers chose to live many years ago.

Mrs. Ruggles is the former Emma Loveland, daughter of the late William and Angeline McQuay Loveland, Hunlock Creek. Mr. Ruggles is the son of the late William O. and Mary Ide Ruggles, Pikes Creek.

Now ninety three years of age, Mr. Ruggles until a short time ago was caretaker of Pikes Creek Cemetery. He is in amazingly good health and loves to spend his spare time in gardening.

His wife, who is 88 and was very active until last fall, when she broke her hip, performed all her household duties and hooked the loveliest of rugs. She has declined steadily since the mishap, a source of much concern to her husband.

Due to her condition, no large celebration has been planned.

Two children were born to the couple, daughter, Mrs. Wayne King, Meeker, with whom the Ruggles' now reside and a son, Leroy, who passed away three years ago.

There are also ten grandchildren, forty great grandchildren and four great great grandchildren.

From the Dallas Post, heartiest wishes for continued togetherness and a pleasant anniversary observance, Mr. and Mrs. Ruggles.
