MRS. CLINTON GEORGE HESS

At a lovely late summer wedding, Catherine Dianne Ide, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ide, Mill Street, Dallas, became the bride of Clinton George Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hess, Upper Demunds Road, Dallas, on August 24 in Dallas Methodist Church.

Rev. Russell O. Lawry performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli and palms. Miss Fern Coldren was organist and Richard Oliver, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of pure white tissue taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, re-embroidered in sequins and pearls, a scoop neckline and elbow shy sleeves over a modified bell skirt with soft monk pleats on the sides. A re-embroidered motif adorned the front of the skirt. Her three tiered bouffant veil of illusion was attached to a double princess crown of pearls and imported Aurora Borealis. She carried a bridal nose gay of white carnations, and roses, centered with white baby orchids.

Miss Jean Ide was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Judith Williams, bridesmaid. Diane Evans, Rockville, Md., was flower girl, and Bert Brace, Dallas was ring bearer.

The bride's attendants were attired in waltz length dresses of apricot chiffon over matching taffeta slips designed with open portrait necklines, elbow shy sleeves, fitted bodices attached to semi-bell bouffant skirts and waistslines finished with tailored bows. One single apricot chiffon rose with circular nose veil formed their head-pieces. They also carried nose gays, which were of
