Miss Addie Elston Honored At Open House On Birthday

Open House was held recently in the Huntsville Christian Church social room honoring the eighty-fifth birthday anniversary of Miss Addie Elston.

The tea table was attractive with a floral centerpiece of pink carnations, white mums and pink candles.

The evening celebration opened with the group singing, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," followed with prayer, appropriate to the occasion, by Rev. Richard Bevan, pastor of Huntsville Christian Church.

A large three tier birthday cake, decorated with pink roses, was cut and served to the guests by Mrs. Jack Roberts, Jr. Pouring at the tea table were Mrs. Jack Roberts, Sr. and Mrs. Ernest Watkins, sister and niece of the guest of honor.

Miss Elston has spent most of her life in the Back Mountain area. She was born in Lehman Township, daughter of Ransom and Electa Brooks Elston. Upon the death of her mother three days following her birth, she was cared for by relatives until she was four years old at which time her father married Catherine Bertram and a new home was established.

Under the able guidance of her step-mother, she became an expert seamstress and from early girlhood has earned her living in that capacity, until the past few years. However, she added her bit this Summer when a "face lifting" was in progress at the Huntsville Christian Church, by doing an excellent job of recovering the wicker suit in the Church Office with material featuring an Old Covered Bridge design.

Miss Elston has enjoyed good health and led an active life until eight years ago when she was involved in a severe automobile accident and suffered a broken hip. However, she gets about the house with the aid of a walker and is even able to attend Church Services frequently in good weather. For many years she taught a Sunday School Class and endeared herself to a group of girls.

Presently, Miss Elston, is making her home with her brother, Herbert J. Major, Overbrook Avenue, who celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday last May. Other brothers and sisters still living are: Fred Elston, Lehman, who is ninety-five years old and attended his sister's celebration; Charles Elston, Lehman; Mrs. A. N.
