Get on board, folks. Lesee, now, just what IS the question?

One thing is for sure... somebody's been reading the church page!

A gratifying development. From a stance of "Intellectual Poverty," and a person who does not mind signing her name at all: Mrs. Thomas Mason Bacon Hicks Jr. More commonly known as HIX.

Dear Neighbor:

You live and pay your taxes in the Back Mountain area, as we do. Like us, you enjoy your community and you are proud of it. You are interested in maintaining the high standards we have achieved together in many of our community services — such as our school system. This is true whether you're Republican, Democrat or Independent.

We believe that a good School Board is only as good as the total capability of its membership.

For this reason we ask you to join us in supporting and voting for Welton Farrar for School Director.

Welton Farrar is an Assistant Professor of Economics at Wilkes College, a Back Mountain resident with four children in the Dallas Schools. He is active in his church and in his community. He is, by far, the best qualified candidate in the race, the man who can best represent your interests on the School Board for the next six years. There are 2800 children whose future depends on what this Board decides.

We believe that Welton Farrar's intimate, personal knowledge of educational problems will be of great help in forming policy. We believe that his background as an economist will enable him to seek out areas where true economy is possible.

Opens New Shop

DAN CARICHER
Dan Carichner, Loyalville, has opened the first new business on Memorial Highway. The local young man is proprietor of Dan's Barber Shop located in the Cease Building just below the intersection of Route 309 and 118.

The two-chair shop opened last week and Dan is being assisted by David Stubblebine, who is also familiar to Back Mountain customers.

Dan was born in Lehman, son of Mrs. Minerva Carichner and the late Arthur Carichner, and graduated from Lehman High School. He served four years in the U.S. Navy and upon his return to civilian life turned to barbering. He graduated from City Barber Institute and worked three and a half years in a Shavertown shop.

GET ON BOARD, FOLKS

Editor:
We have all read many critical opinions of the recent Supreme Court decision regarding compulsory school prayer. All of them quite emotional and most of them poorly informed but why did the chore have to fall to the Dallas Post to write the very first such criticism of the Court decision which so completely revealed the writer's complete and total ignorance of his subject matter?

Quite naturally, I refer to your brilliant editorial of this date which you proudly captioned "Who Started This Thing Anyhow?"

It seems almost impossible to believe that any literate human being in 1963 in this country would admit to the fact that he does not know the course of events which took the New York Regents case up through channels to the point where the Supreme Court was then called upon for a decision, but the title of your editorial is an admission of such ignorance. That being the case it would be too much to assume that you had other pertinent facts at your disposal. At the very least it would appear that you wrote that ridiculous article from a position of intellectual poverty and with total disregard for constitutional law.

As to your last two stirring lines which read "Who started this thing? And WHY?" I can only suggest that most of us knew that a long time ago. Where were you then And Why?

If you have read this far and wish to test the facts further then surely the means are at your disposal to make such wishes known. My name has no bearing on the question but I would like very much to know which one of your staff had the colossal nerve to write that ill-conceived article. After all, you are the great protector of the people.

Signed
A Reader (How's that for pure originality?)
Ed. Note: Think nothing of it. We get crank letters all the time, from folks who haven't the nerve to sign their names.

We mostly file them in the waste basket. It does us no damage to read the letters. It does the writer a lot of good to vent his spleen in an anonymous letter to the editor. It is equivalent to kicking the cat, or giving the little woman a black eye, and far safer.

This letter, we are publishing because it is controversial and will doubtless spawn other letters, fur and agin. The Dallas Post is in business, and controversies boost the circulation.
