JOHN B. WARDELL

Continuing the exceptional musical talent exhibited throughout high school, John B. Wardell, Trucksville, has been selected a member of the outstanding Blue Band of Pennsylvania State University.

Membership in this unit does not come easily, especially during the freshman year, with two and one half hours of strenuous rehearsal six days a week, in addition to a heavy curricular load.

John has been selected as first cornet soloist, and performed under direction of Professor James W. Dunlop during the recent Penn-Army Game at the University.

Presenting a striking appearance in new blue and white uniforms, the band drew acclaim from the thousands present by its formations and excellent music. The band also includes concert tours on its agenda.

John began instruction in trumpet as a fifth grade student under the guidance of Lester Lewis, music supervisor in Dallas Area Schools. As a sophomore, Lewis recommended advanced study, and the young man became a pupil of Bobby Baird.

He performed frequently as a soloist, continuing as a member of the school band and orchestra until after graduation, representing his school at District and State Band meets.

To young Wardell, playing cornet is a form of relaxation, and it was his habit to arise a bit early each morning so that he might play before going to classes.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wardell, Westmoreland Hills, John is enrolled in engineering, with mathematics as his major. We hope the best for him.
