The Hunt Begins
The crack of a shot-gun early Tuesday morning gave warning that the hunters are nearby scouring the local woodlands for game. It also means that youngsters and pets are no longer safe in the area. Fire Chief Arnold Yeust will be among those taking off after game early on Saturday as will many other eager nimrods.

Walter Gosart Sr., will be among the younger lads who want to try their luck after school hours. Jay C. and Tommy Hill visiting in Dutch Mountain recently awoke their elders early on Sunday morning when a young bear climbed a tree near their cabin and several deer and a wild turkey appeared in the clearing.

Taking a jaunt around the area later that day, 50 deer were seen within a short distance of the hunting lodge.

Pageant Winner
The selection of Beverly Eck as Wyoming Valley's Junior Miss for 1964 brings yet another honor to the Eck family. It will be remembered that Mrs. Eck, the capable mother of four, herself was chosen as Mrs. Wyoming Valley several years ago.

Best of luck, Beverly, in the Reading finals.

To Celebrate
Another member of the Eck family will mark a festive occasion on Sunday, when Mrs. John Eck will observe her birthday.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eck and family, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Katon and son, Skipper, Arlington, Va., will arrive Friday to spend the week-end with Mrs. Eck.

Sad Plight
Residents in the Mt. Airy Road sector are disturbed over the plight of a likeable mother cat discarded a year ago.

The animal manages to exist by scraps set out by kindly neighbors, but has lost her faith in humans and can never be caught.

Several litters born to the cat have either died or been carried home by concerned youngsters.

The little ones are so undernourished but rally quickly with care and affection. Mrs. Walter now has one ready to go and another is getting fat and saucy at our home.

Danger In The Dark
Although our home was deluged by visiting Hallowe'ener's last week, we failed to recognize two favorites among the group.

On checking into the reason, we discovered that pranksters had spoiled their evening of wholesome fun.

As Debbie Allen and Leslie Alexander began their rounds on Hallowe'en night, a passing car on Pioneer Avenue hurled hard objects at the two youngsters.

Debbie was struck on the arm, the force of the impact bruising it badly.

It is sad indeed that our children apparently are not safe anywhere, even within the confines of their own neighborhood.

Speaking of Hallowe'en, what an attractive setting Mrs. Sheldon Evans had on her front lawn with the tall cornstalks forming a perfect foil for the big, fat pumpkins.

Here and There
Mr. Arthur Noss underwent eye surgery on Tuesday night at Nesbitt Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skerly Castro Valley, California, are now residing at 75 Shaver Avenue. Mr. Skerly is service manager for Friden, Inc.

Tommy Borthwick, freshman at Penn State University spent the week-end with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Borthwick.

Mrs. Dorothy Schooley returned home on Tuesday after spending several days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Archie Williams, LeRoyville, enjoying the Hallowe'en weekend with her beloved grandchildren.

Ralph Walp son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walp, Lehigh Street, was discharged last week from the Navy and is enjoying a short rest
