

Mt. Zion

Little Annie, who has won the hearts of a lot of people around here, lives with her aunt since her mother died. She's been going to Sunday School and choir, hardly ever misses. Her uncle commented the other day, "We shouldn't have got Annie to praying for rain. Now it may not stop till Spring!" I think it was "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" who turned on a spigot and didn't learn how to turn it off!

Mrs. Lucy Howell recently spent a week visiting Mrs. Willard Evans in Union, N. J. Mrs. Evans would be remembered around here as the former Marian Harris, daughter of Philip and Nellie Harris.

DANGEROUS KINDNESS TO DUMB ANIMALS

We had a letter from friends over beyond Scranton. "Late in the summer our next door neighbor found a little faun whose mother had been killed. He brought it home and fed it from a bottle. As it got bigger it came down here. We did not know where it came from but seemed so tame and hungry we fed it bread and milk. It comes almost every day and likes home-made bread. He likes apples but will eat them only if they are cut up and given to him one piece at a time. His spots are gone and one can feel the bumps where his antlers are starting. They put a red ribbon on his neck but whether that will save him from hunters or not, who can say. We call him "Bambi" and he comes when we call."

It's a wonder he doesn't ask for his apples baked in a pie!

Our birds sometimes make a queer noise, like the woodpecker does sometimes. I look out the window and he's telling me "The suet is all gone!" So I get another piece and go out and fasten it on the feeder. The woodpecker is nowhere in sight. Only the chickadee dee-dee-dees in the bush. I go back in the house and there is the woodpecker at the suet!

Mrs. Hicks' story about her well parallels my experience here two weeks ago election. Only I knew it was the pump. When we first came here for summer vacation I wondered how anybody ever got water. There was no brass liner to the cylinder, and the iron pump leathers worn out. With the help of neighbor Brainerd Daniels I have torn that pump apart several times, putting in new brass liners, new leathers. But this time I knew the pump was done for. My pitcher pump did emergency service for me but I had to have water power right along. I was able to get a new pump the same make and model as the old one, so all I had to do was install it with the same connecting pipes. Lo, we had water right away with no fuss nor feathers. All I had to do then was figger out how to pay for that!

Howard Dymond is the new substitute carrier for our Pitston R.D. 1. So when Joe Clifford takes off it will be neighbor Howard who will be on.

We are glad to note our friends the Weatherlys of Happy Hill are home after a month travel in the Holy Land and other countries. They say they are thrilled to get home. Their children took them to their plane and their children met them at their plane. Mrs. Weatherly, however, picked up an Athenian microbe which has kept her in bed at home for a few days.

The Rev. and Mrs. Burke Rivers of St. Stephens Church, and Bishop Sterrett, formerly rector of St. Stephens, and his daughter, were Sunday afternoon visitors at Weatherly's Happy Hill home.

Carverton

William Larmouth has been doing some repairing of the house roof and changing some things over up stairs.

Transplanting of families uprooted by the State Park authorities seems to be meeting with harmonious adjustment. The J. P. Futch, the Warren Bidwell, and the William Poepperling families have built homes up beyond Memorial Shrine.

At the last report David Werts is still in Mercy Hospital for his back. When he is in bed he has 30 pounds of weights pulling his vertebra and then he spends some time in therapy treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harris are the parents of a baby boy, born at Nesbitt Hospital Friday Nov. 8. Earl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Harris of Carverton.

This rain has turned some of the dirt fill into mud but there is no complaint about that, for the rain is so welcome. These houses are a bit back from the main highway but they are equipped with a 'dozer for plowing out their access road in the winter.
