John Smith, Orange, still a patient in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, wrote this poem and dedicated it "To Mom."

Knowing Johnny from little up, I was really moved reading it.

"Guidance"
Sometimes I'm sad and lonely,
and all my skies are gray;
and everything I say or do brings heartaches all my way.

If I sit, sad and lonely
and the atmosphere is blue,
I search for things to give
"Thanks" for.

and I thank God I have you,
When I cry and sorrow,
and by no one am I heard;
I reach for you last letter,
drawing comfort from four words.

I guess I count on you, Mom,
in ten thousand different ways;
and the strength I find in you,
Mom,

has brought me through these days.
I love you because you taught me
to be thankful, when you say,
"Life's lesson in these words, Mom;
This too, shall pass away."

Love, John."

I hope his friends will continue to send him cards and letters as he has a long time to spend there.
