Rare Plant Blooms At Orange Home

A rare flowering plant is beginning to bloom at the home of Mrs. Russell Race, Dallas RD 1, near Orange.

Five years ago the tropical plant known as a "Bird of Paradise" was given to Mrs. Race by her daughter. The plant blooms after seven years of growth so apparently was two years old when Mrs. Race received it.

Four feet tall, it has a large palm like leaf and finger shaped pods are beginning to open, showing bright orange and blue coloring.

When fully open the bloom resembles a handsome bird of paradise similarity. Mrs. Race invites all flower lovers to visit her home and view the phenomena.
