East Dallas

Sincere sympathy goes to Carl Gries, Sr., Demunds Road, on the death of his brother Herman last week.

W.S.C.S. of East Dallas Methodist church met in the church social hall Thursday afternoon, November 21. Devotions were led by Jule Wilson. There will not be another meeting until January 10, due to observance of the Christmas holidays when all women of church will attend the Christmas party December 10 sponsored by the Ella Moore Class.

All organizations and classes of the church are requested to donate something for the bake sale to be held at Natona Mills, December 12, from 3 to 5 p.m., sponsored by the official board.

Those attending the meeting were Jessie Moore, Jule Wilson, Viola Brace, Jeanette Dickinson, Florence Martin, Mrs. Ralph Kauffman, and Elva Miller. Betty Kintzer was accepted as a new member.

Eighteen month old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carey, Jr., is a pneumonia patient in Nesbitt Hospital.

Rush Lamoreaux remains a patient in Nesbitt; and Walter Shutt, brother of Irene Moore, was rushed to same hospital, in the Dallas ambulance Thursday.

A small gathering in honor of Miriam Dymonds' birthday, Friday, was saddened when the news came over T.V. about our President's assassination.

There will be an "All Charge" worship service Thanksgiving eve at 8 in Dymond Hollow church. Public is invited. A new piano has been purchased for East Dallas Sunday School which will certainly add beauty and pleasure to the services.

Anna Stradus is convalescing in her bedroom, unable to go down the stairs. An extension telephone has been installed so friends who are unable to visit will cheer her if they give her a call once in a while. Her number is 674-0616. Life can be very dull when in confinement like that.

I sincerely hope my readers will bear with me. Due to severe illness of my brother, I was unable to gather much news. I'll try to do better next week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lind, sister and husband, Bloomfield, N. J., are weekend guests of Irene Moore.

Birthday greetings are extended to Jackie Morris, Timothy L. Dymond, Max Young, Robert M. Moore, Sallye B. Higgins, Mabel Morris.

Mt. Zion

The Kings Crusaders Class met at Mt. Zion church on Wed., Nov. 20. Devotions were conducted by Madge Smith. Plans were made for the Christmas dinner party Friday, Dec. 13 at the church. Reservations should be made with Thelma George. Officers for the coming year: President Catherine Gilbert, vice president Priscilla Krum, secretary Jane Lloyd, treasurer Thelma George. Games for the evening were by Marie Shaffer and Janice Vosburg. The refreshments were provided by the committee Mildred VanTuyke, Madge Smith, Marie Shaffer, and Janice Vosburg. Attending were: Mae Lewis, Marion Thomas, Priscilla Krum, Mildred Krum, Joan Dymond, Emma Miles, Wilma Baker, Mable Brace, Peggy Thomas, Ida Howell, Jean Earl, Thelma George, Jane Lloyd, and Catherine Gilbert.

Sometime ago Dick and Norman Lewis built an addition on the west end of their barn. It served to house extra bales of hay. Now they are building an addition to the addition which extends the length of it so that the manure spreader can be backed in under cover. Then an opening will be cut in the end of the barn which will be higher than the top of the manure spreader box. The box then can be filled by the use of a wheelbarrow. Formerly the wheelbarrow had to be pushed up a plank for emptying into the spreader box, an acrobatic feat which is dangerous for non-circus-trained people to follow! Dick is used to making additions. For instance, the present silo was not big enough to hold all the silage that could be cut. So an auxiliary silo was built to a height of about 8 or 10 feet and a diameter of about 12 feet, made of what looks like snow fence material that comes in 50-foot rolls. This fence stuff is held in place by tall stakes driven about 3 feet into the ground and a tie-bar drawn around the whole. Some ensilage which got frozen and was not quite so good as regular was put into this enclosure and wet down with molasses and water and will make good eating when it is uncovered next spring.

CARVERTON

What a good time of year to be drilling a well! If Mrs. Fred Switzer of the Carverton - Orange road gets water now, her well should never go dry, for this is a notorious dry season. Well, anyway, there was a tall well-drilling rig reaching high above her house-top and the drill is supposedly biting deep into the earth's innards. Best of luck to you, Mrs. Switzer!

The Mountain Grange served a successful turkey supper a week ago Saturday night. There are always a number of people from down the Valley who come up to support these affairs. Some people in West Pittston and Wyoming belong to Mountain Grange and help spread the news of its doings. In preparation for this supper, the "property man" decided they needed another sink so they could put more people to work. Dick Bowen was able to secure a used sink and Russell Nielson and Edgar Sutton worked hard to install it. So hard, in fact, that they were not aware of the fire-fighting going on down the road a few houses on the other side of the Grange. Mrs. Sutton heard about the fire and wondered if it might be the Grange Hall, and what about her husband working in it? But when she got near she could not proceed on account of fire hoses reaching from the pond across the highway. Meanwhile Mrs. Nielson finally became aware of the fire down the road and went across to ask them about the fire. "What fire?" these men, deep in concentration on installing a sink, asked. Well, anyway, there are sinks to make use of more workers at suppers, and when someone wants a drink of water he doesn't have to run cold water into the hot dish water to draw one!
