Mt. Zion

We don't often run a news item when someone attends church.

(Not that there are plenty of souls around who could make a sensation by going just once in a year!) But our three-point Thanksgiving service last Wednesday at Mt. Zion was signalized by having Mrs. Howard (Mary) Lewis attend service. This was her first since serious hospitalization back in September. Her friends included this among other reasons for Thanksgiving as she herself also did. We are glad to see her so much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lewis and son Jimmy from Union, N. J. spent Thanksgiving with his mother, Mrs. Howard Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jenkins and daughter Betsey from Toms River, New Jersey, spent Thanksgiving and the week-end with their folks, the Thomases of Mt. Zion.

ORATORIO TIME AGAIN
 Sunday afternoon Dec. 8, 3:30, at St. Stephen's Church, Clifford Balshaw will lead the chorus and orchestra in a presentation of Handel's "The Messiah". This is so well-known that there is sure to be a crowd.

BACK MOUNTAIN ON BOARD
 Besides Clifford Balshaw of Dallas (and Mrs. Balshaw is a member and a soloist in the chorus) the following people are members of the Board: Mrs. Louie Ayre, Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, Mrs. Ralph Weatherly, John Reid, president, Mrs. W. F. Newberry and Catherine Gilbert, secretary. Catherine has been singing in the Oratorio Chorus since 1955. In that time the chorus has sung parts of The Messiah in 1955, 1956, 1959 and now is to sing in 1963. The point of interest with Catherine is that in each of these years she has used the same edition of 1912 that I used for the short time I sang in a Boston chorus in 1916 before my health broke. It is a paper edition and has been used often in home singing and understandably is now quite "song-worn". But Catherine has completely rebound this copy herself, because she had it so well marked up that she can't bear to retire it among the antiques.

SPEAKING OF PAPERBACKS
 Not quite every year we bring out from storage a beautifully lithographed paper book of "The Night Before Christmas", and read the story to our children. They used to Oh and Ah over the antique clothes of the people, and thrill over the deer-drawn sleighload as it took off through the night air. Santa Claus was the up-to-date-dressed of them all. The Christmas tree interested me. I never had one until I was married. The remarkable fact about the paperback was that it is still intact in 1963. The faint inscription is still legible: "Merry Christmas to Charlie from Aunt Ada, 1893". Hm-mm! That makes my trophy of years a half century plus twenty more years. Who is an antique around here?

Mr. and Mrs. William Alling and daughter Nancy and Betsey entertained at Thanksgiving dinner Mrs. Elaine Dymond and sons Howard, Mark and Doug; and Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Reinhardt, parents of June Alling and Elaine Dymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cooke, East Overbrook Avenue, entertained their family over the Thanksgiving holidays: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kammor, Debbie, Chris, Jennifer and Barbara, Philadelphia; Betty Jane Cooke, New York City, and Charles Cooke, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Julia Knorr, Trucksville, and Mrs. Della Thompson were also dinner guests. Mrs. Ira Button, East Overbrook craft called by phone from Florida to give each of the crowd best wishes. Which crowned the day with a surge of family feeling for each and all. Typically American!
