Mrs. Paul Gross Is Reelected Head Of Library Book Club

The Book Club elected officers Monday afternoon in the Library Annex, and enjoyed its annual holiday tea before suspending sessions for the winter. Because of weather conditions, it was decided at the November meeting that the Christmas meeting would be the last until the third Monday in April.

Mrs. Paul Gross was reelected president. Installed also were these officers: Mrs. George Jacobs, vice president; Mrs. Ed Rexer, secretary; Mrs. Herman Thomas, treasurer.

The group sang carols. The beautiful Christmas tree was a gift of David Schooley, companion piece to the tree in the main library.

Presiding at a festive holiday tea-table with a centerpiece of white chrysanthemums and red geraniums flanked by red candles, Mrs. George Montgomery and Mrs. J. D. Hutchinson poured for these guests:

Mesdames Paul Gross, Homer Moyer, Willard Seaman, Bernard Eberts, Raymon Hedden, Herman Thomas, Thomas Heffernan, W. B. Jeter, J. Traver Nobel, Louis J.

Unusual Doll House Is Work Of Herbert Updyke And Wife

A lovely dollhouse is placed in the corridor of Wyoming National Bank, Shavertown Branch, catching the eye of visiting patrons and delighting the youngsters.

Fashioned by Chief Herbert Updyke and his wife, the finished product would provide any little girl with a world of enchantment.

The three room play house constructed so that it may easily be converted into a window seat when play days are over is already padded on top and hand-some wood paneling included to replace the present picture windows.

The lovely bedroom upon whose poster bed rests a tiny baby is beautifully furnished throughout in matching pieces. The attractive kitchen opens onto a patio and wall abloom with lifelike flowers, while the spacious living room is built around a ceiling high fire place.

Many hours of work went into the finished masterpiece. Mrs. Updyke, who is the mother of three sons, says a yen for a little girl is probably responsible for the original idea. She thoroughly enjoys adding the delicate touches requiring a woman's hand.

The next project will be a one room doll house, easily converted into an ottoman. Plans have been on the drawing board over several years and much time was required in finding the right materials for the miniature home.
