Field-Testing Divinity

by Rev. Charles Gilbert

My Lenten meditation fell on the Bible's shortest story of Jesus' temptation: "Thereupon the Spirit sent Him away into the wilderness, and there He remained for forty days tempted by Satan. He was among the wild beasts; and the angels waited on Him." And this right after the highest ecstasy possible to man!

At His baptism He was aware of the Spirit of God coming on Him, but He did not know it. Few know anything about that. My imagination guesses this to be the most exalted elation, beyond anything earth can give. Immediately a second unmistakable awareness — a voice from heaven asserting God's approval. Men conscious of sin and impefection know nothing of such a high state of being as this was for Jesus.

 Then out of it came the inevitable reaction, the drive into the wilderness. Forty long days! Tempted by a realistic Satan! Wild beast howling! Weakness that called for angelic help.

It had to be that way. The ecstasy of spiritual certainty. The awareness of special divine approval had to be put over against earth's sordid misery, decay, filth and the agony of human perverseness. His new-found elevation had to be field-tested to make His divine sense valid in a world dreadfully needing an honest-to-goodness touch from someone so sure of God.

Former Organist Is Buried From Church

Mrs. Eliza Fielding, 82, native of Wales and with the inborn Welsh love of music, died after a five weeks illness Friday night at her home on Polles Road, Huntsville. She was buried Tuesday afternoon in the Welsh Baptist Church in Edwarsville, where she had served for so many years as organist. Rev. LeRoy Albertson, her former minister, now pastor at First Baptist Church in Beverly, N. J., officiated.

Pallbearers were George Worden, Evan P. Thomas, William R. Lewis, Willard Brown, Richard Williams, John Manzoni, Alfred Manzoni, and Paul Reimiller.

Mrs. Fielding was the former Eliza Ashman, daughter of William and Janet Morgan Ashman, of Holybush, Wales. She came to this country in 1931, in August. Her husband, John Henry Fielding, died the following January. Twenty-five years ago the family moved to Huntsville from Kingston, and Fieldings have been prominent members of the community ever since.

Taking his mothers place at the organ console when she suffered a stroke some years ago, Edward Fielding has been organist at Welsh Baptist in Edwarsville ever since. His mother taught him to play.

Mrs. Fielding is survived by these daughters: Mrs. Janet Hogg (at home); Mrs. Myrtle Rogers, Huntsville; Mrs. Bronwyn Lawson and Mrs. Betty Jones, Trucksville; sons: Fred, Chase; John and Sidney, Huntsville; Ronald, Noxen; Edward, at home; twenty-five grandchildren and twenty-two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Ethel Crosby
 Mrs. Ethel Berlew Crosby, 76, a resident of Carverton Heights for the past three years, when she moved here from Pittsburgh to make her home with a niece, Mrs. Charles Geb, died Monday night at General Hospital.
 Harold Snowden made arrangements for burial in Pittsburg.
 Mrs. Crosby, widow of Horace N. Crosby, was a native of West Pittston, a graduate of West Pittston High School and Wyoming Seminary.

Nursery Furniture Needed For Church
 Rev. Grove Armstrong is asking for donations of used children's furniture for the three small rooms being readied for their occupancy in the new church building.
 Needed for Trucksville Free Methodist Church are small chairs and tables, cribs and bassinets, for convenience of parents bringing their children to services. Nursery supervision is provided.
 The edifice on Carverton Road is making long strides toward completion. It was a happy circumstance that saw the roof completely weather-tight before the heavy snowfall early in the new year. This made it possible to waste no time in finishing off the interior.
