Insecticide And Garden Tips Topic At Book Club Meeting

E. V. Chadwick, Luzerne County Farm Agent, following the current trend toward finding an insecticide that will not destroy the birds, recommended a new commercial product to members of the Library Book Club Monday afternoon. The death of Rachel Carson, author of the controversial book "Silent Spring", pointed up the nationwide reaction against dangerous insecticides. In discussing the matter, Mr. Chadwick stated that this new product, "Sevin", will kill the insects that feed on plants, but is not toxic to animals or birds. Mr. Chadwick, in a talk packed with suggestions, gave directions for best handling of a garden at the beginning of the growing season. "How and when to prune" was explained. Seated at this first spring meeting were officers elected in December: Mrs. Paul Gross, president; Mrs. George Jacobs, vice-president; Mrs. Herman Thomas, and Mrs. Harry Ohlman. Book selection Committee reported 195 books bought during the year for the Book Club shelves. Mrs. Thomas Heffernan reported twenty-four new selections on order. Mrs. John Wilson was named hospitality chairman for the year. Co-chairmen for Monday were Mrs. J. D. Hutchinson and Mrs. James Alexander. At a tea table festive with spring flowers and yellow tapers, Miss Frances Dorrance and Mrs. Edgar Brace poured for Mesdames Ornan Lamb, Floyd Sanders, James Alexander, Fred B. Howell, W. B. Jeter, Stanley B. Davis, J. Stanley Rinehimer, Lyman Lull, John S. Wilson, J. D. Hutchinson, Dana Crump, Lloyd Kear, Michael Clark, George Montgomery, Charles Frantz, Homer B. Moyer, George Jacobs, and Paul Gross.

Miss Mary Alice Stitt Weds James Williams, Maryland

Calvary United Presbyterian Church, Indiana, Pennsylvania, was the setting for a lovely wedding when Miss Mary Alice Stitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stitt, Indiana, became the bride of James H. Williams, son of Mrs. Patrick H. Williams, Greenbelt, Md., and the late Mr. Williams, on March 7. Rev. James Burnett Reid, performed the ceremony before an altar banked with fern, palms and candelabra. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long gown of ivory brocade fashioned with a circlet neckline and fitted bodice. A deep inverted pleat accented the front skirt which had a bouffant back. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and ivy on a white bridal Bible. Mrs. Charles Mayer, matron of honor, wore a street length sheath gown of aqua chiffon. The soft wattleau back cascaded to the hemline. Her headpiece was of matching material and her bouquet was of white rosebuds and ivy. J. Paul Williams, brother of the groom, served as best man for his brother and ushers were Charles W. Mayer, Pittsburgh, and Luther P. Brooks, Maryland. Mrs. Stitt, mother of the bride
