Dallas Boy Receives Local Preacher's License

Highlight of the First Quarterly Conference held at Dallas Methodist Church Sunday night, April 19, was presentation of a local Preacher's certificate to a life member of the church.

Allan J. Cease received his Local Preacher's License from District Superintendent, Rev. Dr. Leon Bouton, at an impressive ceremony.

The Dallas boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cease, Franklin Street, made a special trip from Williamsport, where he is completing his freshman year at Lycoming College.

Allen has planned to study for the ministry for many years. He wears the silver cross of a Bishop's Crusader, received when he pledged his life to the service of the church, as a member of a group appearing at Wyoming Conference before Bishop Fred P. Corson.

Recommended by his own church and its pastor, Rev. Russell Lawry, he started preliminary studies two years ago. Recently he passed examinations given by the Nashville Tennessee Board of Ministry, making exceptionally good grades. In one instance, he had personal congratulations (plus a mark of 97) from one of the authors of the Story of Methodism.

Mr. Cease, a graduate cum laude from Wyoming Seminary, sings in the college choir which, with other choral groups, presented the Crucifixion in Williamsport the Sunday after Easter.

At Seminary, and earlier at school in Dallas, he played with the band, and continues his musical interests at Lycoming.

He has not yet definitely decided what Theological school he will attend. He has three more years at Lycoming before making that decision.

But no career other than the ministry has ever entered his mind.
