The local institution now has 920 inmates and there are 8,200 in the eight institutions in the state. 280 men are employed at Chase with nearly $300,000 being spent in our area for supplies.

Heavy hitters for Beaumont were Klamovich, Everetts, and Navagovsky.

Jack Davis started on the mound for the Lions, but was relieved by Kern. Davis received little backing from his fielders, and the Lake committed some costly errors. Hitters for the Lake were Davis, Kern, and Engle. Davis hitting the ball every time up.

Hemenway Retires As Manager Of Hillside After 30 Years

Retiring manager of Hillside Farms, Inc., Charles S. Hemenway, was featured in the May issue of "Pennsylvania Holstein News," which carried a tribute to his thirty years with Hillside.

W. L. Conyngham wrote: "There are no words adequate to express the appreciation of the Conyngham family to 'Sims' for his friendship, loyalty, and constant interest in the well-being of Hillside. We salute him and wish him many years of health and happiness."

When the news was released that Mr. Hemenway would no longer be with Hillside, the community was stunned. It seemed impossible to visualize Hillside without that lean, saturnine product of New England heritage and Hoosier up-bringing at the helm.

But the new farm manager, Warren Sutton, acquired the skill and know-how from Mr. Hemenway over the past eighteen years, and Hillside is going on as usual in its program of raising the best possible Holsteins.

Mr. Hemenway, who moved in April with his wife to the White Birch Trailer Court, remains available to attend sales with the Hillside people, and in an advisory capacity.

Product of a long line of ministers, he has been wedded to the soil his entire life. His forebears, nurtured in the rugged mountains of Vermont, pioneered westward to Indiana.

Mr. Hemenway was born there, to Rev. and Mrs. Wilder Hemenway, and spent his boyhood in the Hoosier State, absorbing farming through his pores, and attending Purdue University. While in that area, he served for a time as secretary of Indiana Berkshire Breeders Association.

After varying experiences in New York State, Mr. Hemenway came to Pennsylvania and to Trucksville. At first a herdsman with Hillside, he became farm manager in 1941.

For years he attended with the Conynghams all the important cattle shows and sales, bringing bloodlines over the years.

In May, shortly after retirement, he accompanied former employers to Toronto, where a notable dispersal sale of 150 head of prize cattle was held. One of the prize bulls brought $57,000 under the auctioneer's hammer, and a crowd of 2,000 bid up individual animals to fantastic figures.

It is impossible to believe that Mr. Hemenway could ever lose his interest in farming. For reasons of health, on both the part of his wife and his own, it seemed best to drop out of active farm management.

But he has a son, Franklin, who supervises the farm at Hayfield, so Hemenways are still making farm history in the Back Mountain.

The family has deep-rooted in its traditions the old-time regard for the soil and its proper use, and a feeling for conservation of natural resources; a realization that breeding counts; that to get good results, you have to plant good seeds.

There is no grandson to carry on the name, but the priceless heritage of old fashioned self-respect, and integrity, and a disdain of laxness, descends to future generations through the granddaughters.

Son Charles Jr. of Utica has two daughters: Lynn Susan, a freshman at Cornell, and Marcia, a high school student at Frankfort, N. Y. Son Franklin's daughters are Pat, Carol, and Betty.

Pats writes unusually beautiful poetry. A graduate of Wilkes College, and a teacher in elementary schools, she is now Mrs. Robert Harrison.

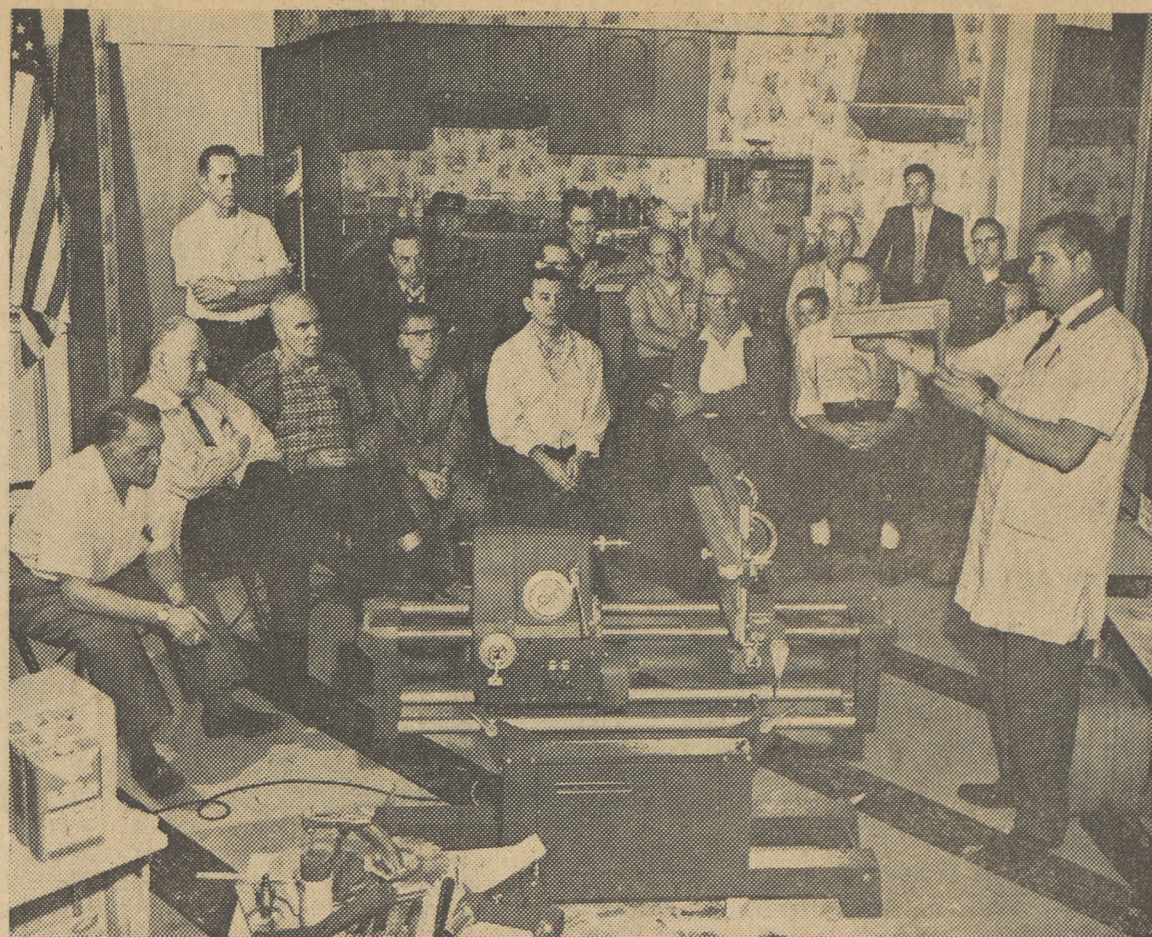

Carol is Mrs. Robert Williamson, also of Philadelphia, and Betty, Mrs. Kenneth Grose, lives at Fort Lauderdale.

Livestock Carriers Support Humane Bill

Livestock carriers today pledged support to a bill now before Congress calling for improved humane methods in transporting animals.

The Livestock Carriers Conference of Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association in its annual meeting called for general support of a bill sponsored by Representative George M. Rhodes, Berks County, which would extend to truck transport the so-called "28-hour law" now in force on rail transport of animals. The bill would provide that no livestock may be left on a truck or rail car for longer than 28 hours without being unloaded for feeding and watering.

Cubs Fascinated By Hillside Industries

Cub Scout Den 5 of Pack 233, Shavertown, made a field trip on Tuesday touring the Hillside Filtering Plant and Dallas Engineers, Inc. The boys were amazed at the large vats that held the water inside the plant and the chemicals to take out impurities.

Harold Richards guided the tour and instructed the oldest Cub, Ricky Yeust, in chemical analysis of the water. Touring the grounds they saw the water as it falls over the ledge and all the wooden traps that it must go through. From there the tour extended to Dallas Engineers where Walter Kozemchak explained the different types of heating units produced there, and the parts that are made for the big Mack trucks. The most fascinating product was the water skooter. The boys all took a practice dry run in the boats.

Making the tour were: Kenny Stolarick, Alan Shaver, Billy Rice, Jimmy McGough, Ricky and Arnold Yeust, Charles and Gary Roberts, Clifford Kozemchak, Mrs. George Shaver, Jr., den mother and Walter Kozemchak, driver and tour guide.
