Gail's Norwegian Saga Ends

APRIL I am sure getting my fill of Shakespeare. We read "Merchant of Venice" again in school. I saw "Twelfth Night" at the theater last week, and tonight we will see "Hamlet" on T.V. Saturday Eli, Karin and I went in to town. I think half the population walks up and down Karl Johan on Saturday. It's awfully village looking with the open-air cafes and parks.

take them in every subject but draw slips of paper to see which ones you will take. We got our russ caps. They are red with a black visor and long black tassel. For every night you stay up studying all night after May 17th you put a knot in the tassel. We also ordered cards sort of like calling cards with a funny saying pertaining to yourself. I am going to have on mine, "Made in U.S.A."

My Rotary Club here gave me a beautiful silver spoon. You asked if I spoke in Norsk. Of course. I get mixed up a little when I write English. My Norsk is pretty good now and no one thinks I am American. So far people take me for Danish, French or Norsk. Now I'll try to describe Russetiden. Literally it means the time of rust or graduates. It lasts from May 17th to June 13. At 5 a.m. on May 17 all the russ from my school rode around in ancient red cars. We woke all our teachers up and proceeded to a girl's house for breakfast with the teachers. There were about 100 russ and 20 teachers. I sat next to the religion teacher at breakfast and it was a riot. He kept us laughing the whole time. The kids were really sweet to me and yelled a cheer. After that I had to say a few words. After breakfast we joined a parade in Stabekk then to lunch at a girls house. We ate and yelled the whole time. From there we drove to Oslo and joined the russ parade. That is all the russ from all the schools in Oslo. There are 6000 russ in Oslo. After the parade we met in the "Studentenlunden" - Students' Park, where our president gave a speech punctuated by yells from us after every sentence.

ready for the big party at night. This ended about midnite and after that we went to a night party. The next evening movies and another party. Every night there is a party and the teachers attend some of them. They are so friendly and just like kids. Some parties are with the russ from other schools. Anne has 7 knots in the tassel of her russ cap and I have to beat her. Tessie sent me a copy of the school paper. Is it ever neat to see the kids pictures and read about them. I got 2 letters from all the kids at school (Dallas).
