

Back Mountain 4-H News

by Debby Rogers

Last week was the National 4-H Week. This annual event, previously scheduled for the spring, has been moved to the fall, so that it winds up the 4-H season.

The purpose of National 4-H week is to turn the spotlight on the aims and ideals of the 4-H organization. Clubs have displays and put on programs designed to inform the public of their achievements.

Here in the Back Mountain, the Cloverleaf Club celebrated National 4-H week by placing a display in the Shavertown Shopping Center. It consisted of the club name, a 4-H banner, and two posters. One of the posters displayed pictures of club members with their projects, the other showed cutouts symbolizing the work of the Home Economics and Gardening groups. As the projects taken by the group ranged from livestock to flowers, there was much interesting variety in the display. Members of the Cloverleaf Club met at the home of the leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Scott last Sunday evening to set up the display and put it in the window.

The Annual Achievement Banquet of 4-H's will be held Oct. 24 at O'Connell's Kingston House. At this dinner those 4-H's who did outstanding work during the year are urged to plan on attending the dinner, which is the annual wind-up to the local 4-H year.
