

Mount Zion

Last Sunday night the men's quartet sang several numbers at special services at Dymond Hollow. The following men composed the quartet: Cornelius Hastie, Roy J. Thomas, Malcolm Baird and Roy W. Thomas. They were accompanied by Catherine Gilbert.

I went over to see how Tommy Lloyd was getting along. The casts from both legs were removed last Saturday. It feels good, he says, to get those feet and legs into a tub of water. Now he has the process of educating those legs in normal behavior, such as wiggling his toes, making his ankles bend just a wee bit, trying to tell his knees they gotta get over being stiff. There's some fancy needle work on both feet. Guess they won't come apart at the seams! I wondered why the house was so quiet, where the two young fellows were. Jane said they wanted to go down and play with Jeffrey awhile. Tommy has a program ahead of him but it is something he will enjoy working on so long as it is getting him somewhere. Best wishes from his friends.

Mrs. Gilbert has been having a hard cold which stole away her voice. Some people make jokes about when a woman gets laryngitis, but I'm telling you we missed her voice around here. She's getting her voice back but in the process she coughed hard enough to make her lame all over. Did you read last week's LIFE magazine? The pictures and stories of the cruel slaughter by rebel forces in Stanleyville were sickening. But I read the whole thing and looked at the pictures, knowing it was all too real. The story of the missionary's family, the Carlsons, was touching. It wasn't hard for us to imagine how they must feel. There is Christian faith and courage for you, the kind you read about in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews. Did you know that the word martyr is a pure Greek word and means witness.

Know something? It makes me sick when there comes over the TV commercials some "spine-tingling horror" movie being shown here and there around the valley catering to the bloodthirsty tastes of people who will spend money to see worked-up terror. There's plenty real sure-enough terror going on to suit anybody. While I am thanking God for 900 miles between Stanleyville and my daughter near Leopoldville I do pray for those who are too close for safety and whose loss can only be endured through faith in the God who makes all things new in His own good time. And we do thank all you readers of Dallas Post who constantly inquire about Dorothy's safety. She is still delivering babies, her cat has had more kittens, she's expecting a crop of peanuts in her backyard in January, and she continues to teach Public Health to eager young Congolese who want to learn.

Shavertown

Mrs. Joseph Mundy recently visited neighbors and relatives in this area. She now lives with her daughter in New York City.

Susan Karl was home to celebrate her birthday on Sunday and one of the pleasant features was the lovely birthday cake baked by her mother.

Among the local youngsters making a visit to Santa on Saturday were Jimmy and Johnny Siodorek along with cousin Taunta Kate Davis, Aunt Jean Glahn and Grandma Dot Fiske.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harley Misson as they celebrate their wedding anniversary. Sorry the article got a bit mixed up on the social page last week. It should have read that Harley had taken beautiful care of the Servicemen's Memorial Plot behind Hall's Drug Store, but a careless operator did not see fit to make marked corrections.

Last week was a busy one. Susie and I visited the Nesbitt Auxiliary Fair with its many beautiful displays and amazingly lovely decorative ideas, Janet Crosson's weaving exhibit where we were fascinated by her skill and enormous knowledge of crafts and finally Nile Clark, Harry Hilbert, Jr., Robert Hoyt, and Herbert Goodwin are some of the local nimrods who shot their bucks.

Nary a cinder on the very slippery snowy 309 between Kunkle and the Beaumont Inn last Thursday morning caused Paul Brown to skid into an approaching car, causing some front damage to his car and rear damage to the other.

Mr. Lawrence Struble remains very ill at the Nesbitt Hospital.

The recent rains seems to have done very little to remedy local water shortages for many more wells are dry, — some for the first time in fifty years.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Austin were recent guests of Dr. T. J. Keating at West Chester, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lutes and daughter, Sarah, Palmyra were with the Ralph Luteses for Thanksgiving.

PM Missionary Society

Missionary Society of the Glenview P. M. Church met at the home of Mrs. Roy Moss on Thursday evening. Mrs. Andrew Derrick, presiding. Following the business session, a Christmas party was held and gifts exchanged.

Miss Sallye Higgins, a missionary from Africa told about Christmas in Africa among the natives, a time of prayer and singing rather than gift giving and celebrating.

Enjoying the party were Miss Verna Lamoreaux; Mesdames, Blanche Crispell, Henry Randall, George Shaver, Jr., Sam Higgins, George Shaver, Sr., Andrew Derrick, Aunt Mame, Sallye Higgins.
