SHOCKED PUPPIES

By Dr. Phillip M. Hinz, Director, Friskies Pet Food Research Center

Puppies are notorious chewers and favorite targets are often electric cords and plugs. When your puppy's teeth penetrate either of these he may be knocked unconscious.

Since this is a fairly common occurrence, it's well to be familiar with emergency first aid treatment. If it's a slight shock and the puppy is only momentarily dazed, he'll probably recover in a short time himself.

If it's a serious shock, he may have to be given artificial respiration, be lowered into a tub of cold water or given a few whiffs of ammonia. But act promptly. Some shocks can be

DALLAS LOSES

The Dallas High School cagers, forced to play for the first time in eight years in the matchbox Ashley-Sugar Notch gym Tuesday evening, came out on the short end of a record shattering 116-90 score. Since there was no room for the boys to set up an offense, it was a case of run and shoot with defense thrown to the wind. Led by fabulous Dave Troian's 42 points, the Rockets connected on 60 per cent of their shots while Dallas was shooting well at a 40 per cent pace.
