

Automobile Club Gives Advice On Cold Weather Driving

Cold-weather driving proves more than usually troublesome to motorists who leave their cars parked outdoors around the clock, month and year 'round, says Keystone Automobile Club.

"Snow is much more destructive than rain", it gets up into under-chassis spots, clings there long enough to rust parts and fittings. Snow's effects on chrome and paint also are much more injurious than rain. And the strong salts used on roads by some highway departments tend to be quite corrosive.

"Best thing, of course, is to garage the car, or at least provide some sort of shelter such as a carport. Lacking these, the next best thing is to have the car lubricated rather often during the winter. And washed, too, more regularly than during the warmer months. Cleaning and rinsing the underside of the car offsets much of the corrosive action of salts.

"Parking continually outdoors also takes its toll on gasoline, oil and engines. Obviously, more continuous engine power is required when oil is cold and heavy. And fuel burns less evenly and more expensively when motors are cold. Motors actually can be damaged, too, when cold starts force unlubricated parts to rub together, cutting loose tiny particles of metal which act as abrasives. Materials corrupting lubricating oil are much more in evidence during winter. For instance: inefficiently burned fuel which blows past piston rings into oil itself.

"Regular and repeated oil changes

lubrications and other winterizing aids will do much to overcome these hazards of the cold months. But the best solution is a garage or other haven for the family car.

Machine Forthcoming To Read Zip Codes

Postmaster Ed. Buckley said today he has received word from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski in Washington, D. C. that a big "breakthrough" has now been made on electronic machines to "read" ZIP-CODED addresses of mail.

"The Postmaster General said he expects to begin installing these sophisticated new machines in major post offices starting in about a year."

Mr. Buckley said each machine will be able to sort, as well as read, at the rate of 35,000 letters an hour.

The offices to get the address readers have not been announced, but the local postmaster said they will have significant effects on the mail in and out of each community regardless of whether it gets the new machine.

This is because they will speed incoming mail to smaller offices from major cities and step up the dispatch of mail deposited in smaller communities but which must be processed enroute at major mail massing points.

The postmaster emphasized, however, introduction of the "seeing eye" device next year does not mean ZIP code isn't useful already. "ZIP Code," he explained, "is important in mail handling under the system of mail processing already in use which will continue to be in use as the basic system at most points. These machines will be just another step-in conjunction with the mechanical mail sorting machines we have developed - to help keep pace with the growing volumes of mail. Neither will the machines endanger jobs - they will only help us meet mail expansion with minimum manpower expansion."

FARMERS' INCOME TAX

Self-employed farmers are required to file income tax returns by February 15, 1963, unless they have made advance payments of their taxes using Form 1040ES.

A self-employed farmer must report his net income if it is as little as $400, up to a maximum of $4800, and pay the social security tax of 5.4 percent on the amount. If for some reason a farmer suffers a loss in operating his farm for a year, he does not get any credit on his social security account unless he elects to report earnings using the optional method based on gross receipts. Mr. Perrine explained that the optional method for reporting earnings is provided only for self-employed farmers. A farmer who has a gross farm income of $600 to $1800 may report two-thirds of the gross income for social security purposes.

This method permits farmers to receive credit on their social security records and keep up their account or perhaps increase the amount of monthly benefits payable, even though their net earnings do not amount to $400. The amount of earnings credited to a persons account is important, since any benefits paid are figured from earnings for a certain period of years.

YOUR HEALTH

Infectious syphilis has almost trebled in the United States in the past five years.

The increase has occurred in both sexes in all age groups and races, the greatest percentage of increase having been among teenagers. Syphilis in persons under 20 years of age has increased approximately 200 per cent in five years.

Prior to World War II, the treatment for early infectious syphilis was prolonged over a year, with repeated courses of weekly injections of drugs.

Then came penicillin and it was found that this new drug was effective in the treatment of syphilis and could produce a complete cure. The widespread use of penicillin as treatment for a number of infectious diseases during the years that followed World War II is said to have resulted in many cases of early syphilis being cured without even being recognized.

This rapid victory over venereal infection convinced the public that syphilis was no longer a threat and public health authorities and legislative bodies became somewhat lethargic regarding the syphilis situation.

However, as time passed, rapidly growing cities and the increased mobility of our population, along with a weakening of family ties, have contributed to an alarming increase in syphilis.

Early treatment of syphilis can make the victim noninfectious. But a large number of infectious persons continue to spread the disease because they fail to seek treatment.

Vaccinations have conquered over smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever and polio.

There is no vaccination against syphilis.

The weapon for preventing the growing spread of syphilis is education.

Tetanus

Tetanus is a serious disease caused by a bacillus, the spores of which are commonly present in soil, street dust, and animal excreta. Human infection is most likely to result from wounds which carry the tetanus bacillus deep into the tissues.

In the United States there are some 300 to 400 cases of the disease each year, and over half of the persons who contract tetanus die. Tetanus toxoid immunization is the only adequate safeguard. Beginning in infancy with a complete series of DPT Vaccine, everyone should maintain tetanus immunity with periodic boosters throughout life.
