Mrs. Sarah Goss Dies Aged 85

Goss Name Goes Back Into Area History

The name of Goss has been interwoven for years with the history of the Back Mountain. The old Goss school building, with its historic bell, stood at the head of Church Street, for generations before it was razed to make room for progress.

It was a Goss who was the subject of one of the most striking pictures ever published in the Dallas Post, years ago in the famous Brown Issue, a man seated in the foreground against the dusty interior of a vast barn, highlighted by sunshine.

Another of the Goss family now makes history by her death.

Mrs. Sarah Goss, 85, and full of years, died Friday night at Nanticoke Hospital, where she had been a patient for the past four months. She was buried at Bethel Hill Monday morning, following services conducted by Rev. Robert Sheehan from the Bronson Funeral Home.

She was born in Ross Township, daughter of Ezra and Amanda Culver Wilkinson. She and her husband Shad lived in Fairmont Township and Kingston before moving to Dallas 38 years ago. On November 21, 1964, they observed their 57th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Goss belonged to Dallas Methodist Church.

She leaves her husband and two sons: William, Luzerne County Commissioner, and Basil, Dallas.

Her parents were Frank and Isabelle Long Edwards. She was a member of Sweet Valley Church of Christ and its King's Daughters Sunday School Class.

Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Lee Bittenbender, of Plymouth.

Mrs. Olive Booth Buried in Altoona

Mrs. Olive Booth, 82, Machel Avenue, was laid to rest in Grandview Cemetery, Altoona, following services conducted Saturday morning by Rev. Jule Ayers from the Harold Snowden Funeral Home.

Mrs. Booth died early Thursday morning in General Hospital, after a long illness, not knowing that her granddaughter Sharon Phillips had taken high honors at graduation from Wyoming Seminary.

Born in Leeds, England, daughter of Samuel and Emma Redman Brown, the former Olive Brown came to this country in 1913. She and her first husband Lewis Kay lived in Altoona. For twenty-five years she lived in Scranton with her second husband. She belonged to St. Luke's Episcopal Church, in Scranton.

THE WEAVER

Mrs. Mary Dendler, 94 years old, has a hobby of memorizing poems. Each day she adds one to her collection. And every once in so often, she sends us one that is appropriate to publish.

My life is just a weaving
Between my Lord and me,
I cannot choose the colors
He worked steadily,
Oftimes he weaved sorrows
And I in foolish pride
Forgot He sees the upper
And I the under-side,
Not till the loom is silent
And the shuttles cease to fly
Will God unroll the canvas
And tell the reason why
The dark threads are as needful
In the skillful weaver's hand,
As the gold and silver threads
In the pattern He has planned.
Memorized May 22, 1965
