The Book Booth can use paperacked whodunits as well as more substantial volumes. There will be something for everybody. Bring your own paper-backs tonight or tomorrow or Saturday morning. And buy somebody else's books. Browse. Take your time. The book booth is far back on the Library Auction grounds, out of the crowd. The Book Club is staffing it.

Rev. Pillarella To Take Charge Of Jr.-Hi Camp

Rev. Pillarella will leave immediately after the morning service on Sunday, to take charge of the Junior High division at Camp Brainerd, near Stroudsburg, for the week of July 11 to 17.

Assisting him will be three young folks from Trinity United Presbyterian Church: Alice Jones, Diane Thomas, and Donna Anthony.

The two-months camp, which started in mid-June, offers Christian education, supervised recreation, crafts, sports, and study. It is supported jointly by the Presbyterys of Lackawanna and Lehigh. Demand always exceeds supply. Enrollment is already complete, with sixty or seventy young people for each period. A camp exclusively for use of the Lackawanna Presbytery is in process of planning and construction

SEE YOU AT The AUCTION

JULY 8, 9, 10

Editorially Speaking A Shining Dream

It's Library Auction time again, and folks are looking forward to a crowded weekend, with guests from out of town.

It is an honor to be asked to serve on a committee. It means that you are part of the community, one of those people who can be counted on to take your place among the leaders.

There used to be an established custom of calling people by name from the Auction Block, to come forward and buy one of Bert Hill's gardenias. People practically sat on the edges of their chairs, waiting to be named, as Howard Risley and Harry Ohlman, in coonskin caps, singled out the folks who were to be permitted to buy the corsages.

To be ignored was a blow.

It was ten minutes of close relationship with the community. It might have brought more cash, to have dedicated that ten minutes to the sale of a concrete mixer or a bit of treasured ruby glass, but it could never have brought the audience such a thrill. For a few moments, the community was one, with lines of politics, and religion, and social stature, complete eliminated.

The people who were recognized were those who made a genuine contribution to the Library, not necessarily in cash, but in promoting this unique institution.

For the Library is unique. From the beginning, it has asserted its sturdy independence, an independence which stems from the pioneer character of the region.

It is a peculiar treasure of the area which it serves. It was one of the late Howard Risley's shining dreams, that the Back Mountain should have a free library which could take its place proudly among other free libaries of larger and more opulent communities. Without Howard and the Dallas Post, the Back Mountain Memorial Library could never have been founded.
