

Bag Two Albino Squirrels

Jim Hallock and Carl Siglin, of Noxen, are shown here with a rare brace of albino squirrels they shot, separately, in Hettes Hollow behind Noxen village, fifteen minutes apart. The boys made their dual mark hunting the same area, but apart from each other. The squirrels were not running together, and were shot about fifteen minutes apart, on a rainy Friday, October 22.

Albinism—absence of color pigmentation—is a rare quality, and to find two running together is rather amazing! Albinism is a recessive trait—that is to say, does not appear frequently in the second generation. So there is a strong possibility that the two rare animals just happened to make even a rarer dual appearance.

The boys say they will have their albino squirrels stuffed and mounted.

New Voting Place

Voters of Dallas Township's Middle District will go to Dallas Junior High school to cast their ballot on Tuesday, November 2. The former voting place at Girvan's on Lake Street will no longer be used.

Shoot House

A hunter planted a load of buckshot in the corner of house owned by Samuel Tonkin, Country Club Road, at dusk last week, and incident was reported the following day, Thursday, to Dallas Township police, who investigated.

Spooks' Parade Saturday Night

Annual Back Mountain Halloween Parade and Costume Contest will be held Saturday night, at 6:30, forming in the yard of Commonwealth Telephone Company, Lake Street. Procession, directed by members of Kiwanis, will cross the highway, to Main and the Borough Building, giving the judges ample time to look over the offerings.

If the entries grow in number in proportion to school enrollments, this year's parade should be a big event! Prizes will be awarded, of course. They will be compliments of the Dallas businessmen, who were canvassed this week by Dallas Borough police, Chief Russell Honeywell and Assistant Chief Alexander McCulloch.

Emcee of ceremonies will be Harry Lefko, assisted by Don Anthony, who will probably sing, as well. W. Arch Austin is reportedly recruiting teachers to do the tough job of judging all the original and colorful entries. Categories include: Original, Historical, Comic, Prettiest, Best Group, and (oh, horrors) Ugliest.

The Dallas High School Band is slated to play.

Hinkle Announces CD Resignation, But Board Postpones Acceptance

K. T. Police Cruiser Lasts Only Two Years

Ted Hinkle, Civil Defense head in Kingston Township for a number of years, tendered his resignation to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday evening at an adjourned meeting of that body.

With no one available to replace him at the present time, the board voted to table acceptance of the resignation. Hinkle has given freely of his time, acquiring vital equipment and supplies for the area, including the amphibious duck and weasel, which has been used in a number of rescue efforts.

Supervisor J. Funke reported on the total ineffectiveness of the present police cruiser stating that he had driven the vehicle on Saturday and that it could not negotiate Carverton Road. The board voted to draw up specifications and advertise for bids on a new car, consideration being given to the Chrysler Company which offers a $50,000 mile warranty.

Equipment Received

Dr. Henry M. Laing Fire Company, Dallas, reports receipt of the new firemen's boots, the fireproof entry suit, and the Air-Pak with electric speaker used in the suit. New coats are still on order. Firemen have requested it to be pointed out that funds for these purchases were derived solely from coincard drive, requiring no extra campaign.

The present cruiser a Ford Fairlane, which shows a mileage of 40,000, was only purchased in July of 1963, has needed many repairs and now requires a new motor job, radiator cleaning and transmission replacement of parts. The board decided in lieu of the expense involved to sell or trade the vehicle. Transportation costs per month for officers using their own machines has amounted to $210.

Chairman LeRoy Ziegler noted that the name of the local rescue unit is called Back Mountain Rescue Squad and asked the secretary to write civil defense headquarters advising a change in name to that of Kingston Township Rescue Unit, since the equipment belongs to the local community and all but two members of the squad are from Kingston Township. The local men were active in rescuing the little boy lost in West Wyoming last weekend.

New police regulations will be amended after further study.

At an earlier meeting last week, supervisors noted that the installation of gas lines has held up road program and continues to disturb newly laid pavements. At this time the installation of an emergency traffic signal was approved across from McCrory's on the Highway to grant Shavertown Fire Company an exit area. This will also be used for ambulance runs. Control button will be placed at the fire hall. Wyoming National Bank allowed use of their lane between Main Street and Memorial Highway for this purpose.

For those who are not protected under the Blood Assurance Plan, one pint of blood from the Red Cross costs two pints in replacement.

Mrs. Edward Gilroy issues a plea for help with routine work on Friday. Needed are registrars, Babysitters, and other non-professionals.

Blood is not taken from anybody who is coming down with a cold or has any other ailment. Only those who are entirely capable of giving will be permitted to do so.

Dallas Gift To Canada

A real prize gift, homemade in the Back Mountain by a Rotarian who is also a master craftsman, is shown here being presented to the president of a Canadian Rotary Club by Jack Stanley, president of the Dallas club.

Delighted at the hand-carved oak plaque, the work of Stefan Hellersperk, of West Dallas, is Tom Johnston, of the Brownsburg-LaChute club. Carving was done especially for the occasion.

Pair Of Hounds Wantonly Shot

Owner Only Running Them Near Reservoir

John Gallagher, 17 Laurel Street, Wilkes-Barre, has run his hounds for a number of years in the vicinity of Huntsville on the grounds of friends.

Last Tuesday, October 19, in the afternoon, he set out for the Back Mountain again with dogs Hannah and Tippy in tow.

As he left the vicinity of Huntsville Dam (on the Dallas side) the two hounds ran across the road. In a matter of seconds Gallagher heard four shots, dismissed it as hunters bagging game, and proceeded to his car.

When the dogs did not meet him, he called and called, finally giving up and returning to his home. Every afternoon he went back to Huntsville area, scouring the region but with no success.

Saturday afternoon he met a hunter and told him the story of the lost dogs. That evening the man called back, said he had seen the dogs and had noted on the collar Gallagher's name.

Sunday, in "the Pines", just off Reservoir Road, the sad discovery was made. Hannah and Tippy lay only a foot apart with bullet holes in head and neck. Someone had wantonly shot them down seconds after they had left their master.

There is gloom in the Gallagher household because Hannah had been a favored pet for eleven years and Tippy had joined the household three years ago, friendly well-trained creatures, who would harm no one.

Jailed On Valley Burglary Charge, Men Suspected Of Dallas Job Too

State police were waiting for Dallas Borough police to bring charges of burglary against two 19-year-olds already accused of similar charges of taking $115 in coin in Wyoming over the weekend, the Dallas Post learned this week.

Basis for the expected charges against James McCleary, 711 Shoemaker Avenue, West Wyoming, and William H. McCarty, Box 24, Lehman, was a confession reported derived from the men after state police arrested them.

Dallas Borough Assistant Police Chief said the barracks reported that the suspects admitted to burglary of $20 in coin from Frank Carman's Sneak-A-Snak Restaurant, Main Street, sometime between Friday night and Saturday morning. Cigarettes and coin were also taken from machines at the Speed Wash laundromat in Dallas Shopping Center that night.

state police to bring the charges against the men, since they have the only evidence.

Entry to the Dallas restaurant was gained by breaking a window on the side door.

The suspects were apprehended by Towanda police as they attempted to convert small change into paper money there, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Stephen Stefanides, Swoyerville on Saturday, accused of burglarizing the Midway Diner, Wyoming, and removed to the county jail after waiving a hearing.

Dallas And Lake-Lehman Students Listen To Pro Racer Talk On Driving Safety Measures

Dallas and Lake-Lehman student bodies are seen during presentation of the nationally acclaimed Champion Highway Safety Program by Indianapolis 500 racing veteran Art Malone, whose appearance was arranged by Aldo Franconi, Franconi Auto Parts. Malone is a two-time competitor in the Indianapolis 500. The program, now in its 11th year, has been received by more than ten million teen-agers throughout the United States, and has brought numerous awards to its sponsor, the Champion Spark Plug Company. Among these are three National Safety Council Public Service Awards and the Alfred P. Sloan, Jr. Award for outstanding service to highway safety. Other citations have come from the United States Auto Club, Continental Casualty Company, and the Public Relations Society of America.

The program draws a comparison between driving on the highway and driving on the speedway. "We emphasize the three main factors which account for the relatively safe driving conditions on the track," said Malone. "These are mental alertness, courtesy to other drivers, and the safe mechanical condition of the car.

"The risk we take on the track is a carefully calculated one," said the 11-year veteran of automobile racing. Malone continued by pointing out the many ways of minimizing risks while driving on the highway.

Malone gained his reputation in automobile racing in the drag racing field. He has broken the world's record six times. In 1963 he won titles at Bakersfield, California, the national meet of the America Hot Rod Association at Green Valley, Texas, and the northern California championships. This year he won the AHRA Summer Nationals at a speed of more than 197 mph. In 1963 he made his first appearance as a rookie at Indianapolis and qualified for the race driving the Novi. In 1964 he again qualified a Novi and drove it to 12th place.
