The Perfect Idiot
Don't forget, the senior play, "The Perfect Idiot", will be presented tomorrow night under the direction of Mr. Edgar Hughes, Jr. Yesterday, a preview performance was presented to the student body and received many compliments.

Thanksgiving
On Wednesday, everyone will be waiting for Thursday. The reason for this is that Thursday is Thanksgiving and Friday is the day after — and we have them both off from school! Happy Drumstick!

Basketball Season
by Craig Seelye
The basketball team is looking forward to a prosperous season this year, with an excellent chance for the conference title.

The basketball team has been practicing since Monday, November 1. Forty-two prospective members of the squad showed for practice, and out of this figure, twenty-four will be chosen for the team; ten will play varsity. Overall, the morale of the boys has been good.

Mr. Brobst regrets, however, that the assistant coach, Mr. Kozick, has resigned. Having a great sense of humor, he is still joyful, because Mr. Cicon, a capable man, will replace Mr. Kozick.

Mr. Brobst believes in the boys' utmost ability to play a good game of basketball and that is why Dallas is going to be one of the four teams to play in the Holiday tournament. Other schools participating in the Wyoming Valley Invitational Tournament are St. Mary's, Meyers and West Side Central Catholic. This even will be held December 27 through 29.

The following Boy Scouts have completed nature merit badge counseling with me: troop 281, Dallas, James and Jerome Juris and Grant Davis; troop 231, Shavertown, Warren Boyes Jr.

Why not join with THE FABULOUS COMETS at your next teenage entertainment dance spot. Remember THE FABULOUS COMETS are making the scene with just them and you teens. For rates and dates phone 674-3782. Get with it and hop with the tops. And say you read about them in the DALLAS POST. Take my word, these young men are a swell group.

Be a gentleman, ask the land owner's permission to hunt and be careful with fire. You are the loser when game habitat is destroyed. Davey Kozemchak and pal Dale Elston have bagged some nice pheasants.

Foot Patrol Works Well At Shavertown

Kingston Township Supervisors set in motion a Foot Patrol last weekend in an effort to cut down on traffic accidents in the vicinity of the Shavertown Shopping Center and nearby Franklin Street intersection.

Chief Herbert Updyke initiated the new type of police on the spot action on Saturday afternoon when many shoppers congest the area. As a result, Supervisor Daniel Shaver reports that no accidents occurred at this point. A rash of mishaps in late weeks led the supervisors to try another approach to the problem.

The lights Betsy couldn't blow out.

When Hurricane Betsy roared into Dade County, Florida, 80% of the power went out. But the big new David-William apartment/hotel in Coral Gables kept full services: lighting, air conditioning, and hot water. How? The building has its own Gas Total Energy system. Gas turbines on the roof drive generators, which produce all the electricity. (For less than it costs to buy.) What's more, the exhaust heat from the Gas turbines is captured and put to work. It makes hot water. Heats the building in winter. And even powers the cooling equipment during the summer months. That's what we call Gas Total Energy. Archiitects and engineers are applying this efficient energy concept more and more in new construction. In schools, motels, factories and apartment communities. Is it practical for your new building? We'll be happy to discuss it with you.
