Lycoming College Choir Is Well Received In Back Mt.

Lycoming College Choir which made its appearance Sunday afternoon in the Back Mountain offered a delightful repertoire of folk songs and early compositions to the interested audience which thoroughly enjoyed the chorus of 41 voices.

Professor McIver, director of voice at Lycoming, led the group with finesse and in perfect accord.

Music lovers were delighted to have a fine program presented in their own community and the audience was lavish in its praise.

The young singers were brought here under auspices of the WSCS of Shavertown Methodist Church. The sale of tickets was brisk and the affair was termed a huge success.

It was the opinion of all who heard the program that here was a representative group of young people, who were a credit to their school and their families.

Ladies of the church are planning a tour of the Lycoming Campus in the spring months.
