

Dallas Senior High School News

by Elva Costello and Robert Graham

The Junior Play preview was presented on Wednesday, March 2. The students have enjoyed it and many appeared at the actual performance on Friday, March 4.

Seniors, under the direction of Mr. Edgar Hughes, are preparing for class day. Class president James Steinhauser has chosen members who will work on the program.

Payne Printery in Dallas is printing the Dal-Hi Yearbook this year. Great progress is being made in completion of the book which should prove a special attraction this year because of the introduction of color.

Seniors are asked to pay for their class dues by April 1. This money is needed for payments for the banquet, commencement, baccalurate, the class trip, and the class day program.

Sincere congratulations go from the entire school to Stephen Kaschenbach and Mark Dymond on their victories in the District Wrestling Tournament held in the Wilkes College gymnasium, Friday and Saturday, February 25 and 26.

The annual J.E.T.S. Test was given last Friday at Pennsylvania State University Center. Twenty students from Dallas wrote the test, which lasted from 12:30 to 4:00 p.m.

Teacher Home From E. Africa

FRED MALKEMES, JR.

After two and one half years out of the states and halfway around the world, Fred Malkemes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Malkemes Ferguson Avenue, has returned to Shavertown.

The young man enlisted in 1962 under the Teachers for East Africa program and left for Kenya where he was assigned to Kijanga High School as an instructor in English on August 11 of that year.

During his stay in the continent down under, Mr. Malkemes had many thrilling experiences and with other teachers toured most of the countries bordering Kenya.

His tour of duty at the Keny schools was completed on December 1 and then began an exciting trip through many of the countries of Africa and Europe.

Cape Town, S. Africa, was the first stop on his agenda, where he spent two weeks, then off to Johannesburg and sightseeing at magnificent Victoria Falls from the Zambian side. He returned to Nairobi, Kenya, to spend Christmas with friends, then left by plane to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Khartoum, Sudan, and Cairo, Egypt.

Leaving Africa, the traveler chose Athens, Greece, as his first stop on the European continent. From there he toured Istanbul, Turkey; Belgrade, Yugoslavia; Budapest, Hungary; Vienna, Austria; Milan, Italy; Zurich, Switzerland; Munich, Germany; Amsterdam in the Netherlands and London, England.

On Sunday morning he left for America, where his family eagerly awaited his return. From Boston, he placed a hurried call to his parents and later called again from New York, where he had a joyful reunion with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mahoney, Long Island, his sister and brother-in-law, who met him at the airport.

Mr. Malkemes, a graduate of Wyoming Seminary and Wilkes College, taught at Bergenfield High School, N. J., for three years before he left for a teaching position abroad.

Among the innovations he made to classes at Kijanga, was the introduction of drama classes, which the students immensely enjoyed under his direction.

His future plans are indefinite at the moment.

may register at the meeting on Monday or by contacting Mrs. Carlos Rodriguez. Nurses or any other volunteers who would be willing to work should also call Mrs. Rodriguez.

College Bound

BY BRUCE HOPKINS

On Friday, March 4, an assembly to begin the March of Dimes drive was held. The drive is a joint effort, with Lake-Lehman Schools and Dallas Schools participating and will run from March 4 through the 12th.

The Falcons brought their record to 11-2 by defeating Lehman 42-28 in a hard played low scoring contest. The game was very close until the beginning of the fourth quarter when we increased our lead.

The second order of Falcon sweat-shirts have arrived and 112 have been sold already. This has been one of the most successful fund raising campaigns sponsored by our Student Council.

People Are Funny You meet the funniest people in college. I mean, some people have the strangest way of doing things.

For example, some guys absolutely refuse to study for tests until after midnight. They feel that the dorm is ever so much quieter then, and you can concentrate much better.

Then there are the sleeping habits of some of the guys. Some of them don't. Others only sleep at night when it's absolutely necessary—they do the majority of their sleeping in the afternoon.

Just as a matter of interest, I've found something funny about the guys who watch television. I've noticed that the majority of the guys who watch the war programs are the guys who are on scholastic probation.

But the time when the guys are really the funniest is in the morning. I know Ralph and I sure have our problems in the morning.

One morning, both sets our clock radios to similar hours. That way, if one radio should malfunction on the day, the other radio usually saves the day. But this proposes another problem.

of Thomas Reese, Institutional Representative; Raymond Jacobs, chairman of committee; Robert Scott, Webelos Den Leader and assistant cubmaster.

John Coon, Gary Mattern, Jr., Thomas W. Earl, George Parrish, Albert Torr, R. L. Casselberry and A. D. Whitehead complete committee.

We get out of bed. We do the dumbest things. Ralph will start rooting through my drawers trying to find his underwear, and I'll go rooting through his underwear trying to find my drawers!

But the best part of the whole morning is watching the guys who are trying to brush their teeth. The other day, I walked into the lav just in time to find one guy practically throwing up because he had just brushed his teeth with hair cream!

This same guy gets up every morning at 6:30, washes, dresses, and gets all prepared to go to class. He then sets his alarm so that it will ring ten minutes before his first class, and goes back to bed fully dressed.

Oh, well, we all have our own way of doing things, and as long as they work well for each of us, I guess there is no sense changing them. Ralph polishes his shoes while he's wearing them, and I take mine off to polish them.
