Sun-mobile Demonstrated At DHS To Encourage Engineering Study

The Sunmobile — a model car powered by sunlight — was one of the features of General Motors exciting science show, Previews of Progress, which was presented at Dallas Senior High School on Thursday, March 31.

"There are no plans to produce sun-powered cars in the foreseeable future," GM President James M. Roche declares, "but this demonstration symbolizes the continuing search of scientists and engineers for the secrets of power and energy."

Previews of Progress is a non-commercial stage show designed to encourage more students to make science and engineering their career. Packed with nine dramatic demonstrations, the 45-minute program was presented in non-technical language by a specially trained two-man team.

According to Dave Tietzen, Previews lecturer who narrated the show, the solar energy falling on one square mile of ground each day is equivalent to the energy in 4000,000 gallons of oil. The Sunmobile illustrates one method of recovering some of this energy.

Photoelectric cells on the hood of the 15-inch Sunmobile convert solar energy into electrical power. During the Previews show, a 300-watt lamp was used to simulate the sun's rays. As the light struck the button-like cells, the car moved smoothly across the table.

Among eight other demonstrations in the Previews show were a roaring jet engine, a vivid illustration of the gyroscopic principles that safely guide today's planes and missiles and an air bearing platform that slides across any flat surface on a thin layer of air.

Seven teams take the show to nearly two-million students and adults each year in all parts of the nation. Since 1946, Previews has been presented in Canada and 22 foreign countries in 15 different languages.

Did You Ever Think of Getting Your Easter Bonnet From A&P?

We don't sell Easter bonnets but... we suspect many an Easter hat has been paid for with money saved by shopping A&P.

Are we implying that A&P has the lowest prices on all items all the time?

No! There is no store that can make that claim.

What we are saying is: if you're interested in your total food bill, if you're looking for the best values for your food dollar, A&P is the store for you.

It's a little late for this year's Easter bonnet, but start shopping A&P this week, anyway.

It won't be long before somebody in the house will need a new pair of shoes.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.
