

County Child Health Clinics Will Operate By Appointment

The Child Health Clinics in Luzerne County presently conducted by the Pennsylvania Department of Health will certainly be continued according to a statement made today by Dr. Richard Goynes, Regional Medical Director of the Kingston Office of the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Recently a local paper carried an announcement that the Visiting Nurse Association of Wyoming Valley would close their well baby clinics. Many people throughout Luzerne County mistakenly thought the article referred to the State Health Department Clinics. This is not the case.

The 17 state sponsored Child Health Clinics in Luzerne County will continue as usual, by appointment, at the following locations: Dupont, Borough Building, every Tuesday from 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. Duryea, Borough Building, every Monday from 9:30 to 11:30 A.M.

Exeter, Town Hall, Wyoming Avenue, 2nd and 4th Monday, 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. Hunlock Creek, Northeast Jointure Grade School, 2nd and 4th Tuesday, 10:00 to 12 noon. Huntington Mills, Dr. Heckler's Office, Town Hill, every Wednesday, 10:00 to 12 noon. Mocanaqua, Brick School, Pond Hill Road, 1st and 3rd Monday, 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. Nanticoke State Hospital, 2nd and 4th Thursday, 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. Pitts-Health Center, 48-50 S. Main Street, every Wednesday, 1:30 to 4:30 P.M. Plains, Town Hall, 2nd and 4th Friday, 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. Wyoming, Town Hall Borough Building, every Wednesday 9:30 to 11:30 A.M.

The State Department of Health also sponsors an "Immunization Clinic" at the Luzerne County State Health Center located at 71 North Franklin Street, Wilkes-Barre. The clinic is held the first Monday of every month from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m.

Lehigh To Train Specialists

Lehigh University will initiate training for men and women with bachelor's or master's degrees and at least two years teaching experience preparing them as specialists in educational research. The new program will begin September 1 (1966).

Dr. John A. Stoops, dean of the School of Education at Lehigh announced the cooperative program for the teaching of specialists in educational research. The program, projected over the next five years, is funded by the federal government through a grant authorized by the United States Office of Education with $88,217.00 budgeted for the first year of the projected five-year project.

Students who complete the program in which successful completion provides a doctor of education degree will be equipped for educational research positions with colleges and universities, public schools which have large developmental programs, or with the federal government. The program is one or two years in length depending on the prior graduate standing of the fellows.

In addition to a college degree and at least two years of successful teaching experience, candidates for the program should have superior mathematical ability, an interest in educational problems, and a capacity for demanding work.

Twelve fellowships are being offered for the initial year and will amount to $2400 for those holding a baccalaureate degree and $2600 for holders of a masters degree, plus a dependency allowance and tuition.

Applications are being received at Lehigh by Dean Stoops at the School of Education. Selections will be announced later this summer.

Safety Measures For Watery Sum.

To make the summer in the surf safe and pleasurable and to avert or reduce the toll of last summer's 6,000 drownings — the American Red Cross (ARC) and the American Medical Association (AMA) recommend the following water safety rules:

Learn to swim. The ability to swim, the ARC points out, helps you to overcome the fear and panic that grips nonswimmers in a water emergency. If you can swim a little, learn to swim better. The Red Cross booklet, "Teaching Johnny to Swim," is an easy-to-follow illustrated guide for parents teaching very young ones to swim. It is available from local Red Cross chapters — as is free swimming instruction.

NEVER swim alone. A companion may save your life.

Swim in a safe place. The presence of a lifeguard usually indicates an area is safe. No trespassing signs or signs warning of danger should be taken seriously.

NEVER dive unless you know the water is deep enough and that there are no submerged objects such as rocks.

NEVER depend on a tube or inflated toy to support you in water where you cannot manage without them. They've been known to spring leaks, leaving swimmers helpless and in grave danger.

If you haven't done much swimming, take it easy the first few times. Recognize your limitations. Don't swim when you're tired, overheated, or full from a recent meal.

Rescue Tips

Don't try to affect a swimming rescue unless you know how. It's preferable to throw a line or ring buoy to the swimmer in trouble if he's not too far from shore. If the victim is in deep water, you can wade to chest depth and offer a reaching assist while bracing yourself by bending backward toward shore. Or better yet, shove a plank or lifesaving device to him until you can get help. If a rowboat or canoe is available, get alongside the victim so he can grasp the stern, or extend an oar drawing him to the stern. Then row back to safety. GET HELP FAST if you can't swim and you've done all you can to keep the victim afloat.

An astonishing number of Americans now have backyard pools. Of the 472 pool drownings last year, the AMA points out, 246 occurred at private homes — and 155 of the victims were under five years of age. The three chief causes of such drownings were lack of qualified adult supervision; inadequate pool protection, such as lack of fences; and the victim's inability to swim or float.

Safer Homes Pools

To make home pools safer, the U.S. Public Health Service suggests that you: Surround the pool with a fence or wall at least six feet high, with barriers atop it to prevent climbing. Extend it at least six inches into the ground to prevent burrowing under it. Fence and braces should be on the inside to eliminate handholds a child might use as a ladder.

Lock the gate — with a combination lock — when the pool is not in use. A few neighboring adults should know the combination so they can enter in emergencies.

Install an automatic alarm system to warn of trespassers. Keep at poolside life-saving devices such as a floatable "shepherd's crook," a lightweight pole with a large metal hook at one end. It enables a nonswimmer to pull a swimmer to safety.

Make competent adult supervision a must. "Temporarily unattended children," says the AMA, contributes to more drownings than any other single cause. No one should swim alone. Even expert swimmers can suffer injury or fatigue.
