

Back To School In Trailer Classroom Sponsored By Penna. Gas And Water Co.

Rulison Evans, resident of the Back Mountain region and chairman of the board of the Pennsylvania Gas & Water Co., turns to a role as instructor in the history of natural gas and its growth in popularity here as he outlines the territory and increasing number of gas pipe lines in the utility's network for Mrs. Marie Julius, left, and Julie McIntyre. The girls went "back-to-school" for a brief period when the Pennsylvania Gas & Water Co. sponsored natural gas trailer classroom was in the region and learned from

Mr. Evans that this year the utility will break an all-time record of 500,000 feet of gas line pipe installed the past year. In addition to the subsequent increase in consumer units, the increased use of natural gas is a big boost to the economy of the region.

Moore Family Holds 10th Reunion

Tenth annual reunion of the Charles Moore family was held Sunday, August 14, at Ted Wilson's Lake T. J. in East Dallas.

A picnic dinner and supper was enjoyed, with a business meeting during the afternoon. The same officers of the previous year were kept in office.

Much needed rain fell all afternoon, which prevented many games; but kept the family all together under the shelter, so that we really had a better visiting time, especially with the ones who came so far.

Coming the greatest distance were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hawke, Clearwater, Florida, and their daughter Betty Knapp and son Bobby, Miami, Fla.

The oldest gentleman was Chester Hawke; in fact the oldest couple was Chester and Carrie (Moore) Hawke.

The youngest member was Elizabeth (Beth) Ruth Salmon, Johnson City, N.Y. She is the daughter of Bill and Betty (Harvey) Salmon. The members having the largest family in attendance was Mr. and Mrs. Byron Moore, Binghamton, N.Y., with eleven present.

Others present were, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore, and daughter Mrs. Alyce Wadin, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. William Salmon and daughter Beth, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Harvey, daughters Nancy and Joyce, Johnson City, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Moore Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Byron Moore Jr. and daughter Karen, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, daughters Dianne and Kathleen, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore, all from Binghamton, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hawke, Clearwater, Fla.; Mrs. Betty Knapp, son Bobby, Miami Fla.; Fred Moore, Philadelphia; Mrs. Fred Hawke, Ashley, Mrs. Mary Lind, Bloomfield, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. David Moore, children David Jr., Kimberly, Ricky and Pamela, Passaic, N.J.; Mrs. Sherwood (Priscilla) Krum and son Howard, Mt. Zion; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Moore, Lehman; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore, children Edward Jr., Lynette and Walter, Myre Carlin and me (Irene Moore), all from East Dallas.

4-H Award For Best Sheep Project

Sheep projects are one more area of livestock programs set up on a statewide and national scale for 4-H Club members. The state sponsorships was assumed this year by Wilson & Co., Inc., which previously had offered scholarships only on a national selection basis.

Announcement of the new state award for highest ranking sheep project member is an engraved wrist watch. The cooperative Extension Service, which sets up guidelines for the 4-H program, selects both state and national award winners.

The 4-H'er, in the course of work on the project, not only learns the responsibility of animal care, feeding and health, but also learns to appreciate the importance of lamb as a food and sheep products for human comfort such as wool.

Skill in rearing the animal for the show ring is another challenge for the young sheep raisers. Breeding, marketing and management practices are part of the project. Local leaders and county extension agents work with the youngsters.

The six 1966 national winners will be announced during the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago right after Thanksgiving. Each will receive a $500 scholarship.
