

Oncay Dairy Herd Is To Be Sold Friday Over The Auction Block

Holsteins, Guernseys, And Jersey To Go

Thirty-seven high grade registered Holsteins, Guernseys and Jerseys will be sold over the block tomorrow, Friday, September 2, at the Edward E. Oncay farm in Lehman Township.

Merton E. Bunnell will lift the hammer at exactly 11 a. m. Many owners of small farms have already inspected the herd with intentions of bidding in stock which largely stems from the Hillside Farms, and NEBA sires. Guernsey sires include Villa Crest Kings Honor, Yellow Creek Superior and McDonald Farms S. Mister.

Seven cows are bred for late fall, several for December and January. Five Holsteins are recently fresh.

A 2-year old Welsh Palomino pony is also to be sold. Sun-Lit farm is located on the Lehman-Outlet Road, halfway between Lehman and Harveys Lake. Mr. Oncay, in going out of the dairy business, bases his action on circumstances which have beset other dairy herd owners in Luzerne County, and cut down the herds toward the vanishing point.

It is almost impossible to obtain good help, managers who are able to manage, without going up into a wage bracket which makes dairying no longer profitable.

Continued drought has cut down corn for silage. Feed, purchased instead of home-grown, cancels out income.

Mr. Oncay is reluctant to part with his herd.

The creameries to which he sold his milk are regretful. Milk distributors are going farther and farther afield to procure a steady supply.

The community, which cherishes its herds of sleek cattle, is regretful. The herds are going. The Rice farm, which used to show black and white cattle on its rolling acres, now shows a housing development.

The prize Guernsey herd at Goodleigh Farm was dispersed some years ago. At the dispersal sale on Friday, tractors, barn cleaners, and many other pieces of farm equipment will be offered for sale.

There will be a lunch tent on the grounds.

The Oncays are keeping one cow for family use, a Holstein for heavy milk production.

Noxen Native Dies In Auto

Raymond Scott Had Attack Ten Years Ago

Stricken as he was about to start his car, Raymond L. Scott, 50, Noxen, died instantly in the Shavertown Shopping Center parking lot on Thursday afternoon at 1.

Mr. Scott, who had been in poor health for the past ten years had gone shopping with his wife at the Acme Market. She was still in the store when one of his small daughters rushed into the grocery market to her mother, crying "Something is wrong with Daddy".

Thomas Walent, manager and Luther Rozelle, rushed to his aid but he had already succumbed to a massive cerebral hemorrhage, his head resting back on the driver's seat. Kingston Township Ambulance was summoned but was not needed. Dr. Malcolm Borthwick pronounced the victim dead.

Some delay was encountered in trying to locate a coroner and as the curious gathered Arnold Yeust and Carl Miers, ambulance crewmen covered the car windows with a blanket. Mrs. Betty Shook, an Acme employee and neighbor of the Scotts drove the widow and her children home.

Mr. Scott had been employed at the Noxen Tannery until it closed and for the past several years had worked summers at Irem Temple Country Club. He had been unable to work for the past month.

He was born on Sorber Mountain, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Scott and had resided in Noxen most of his life.

He was a veteran of World War II and attended Noxen Methodist Church.

Survivors include his widow, the former Charlotte Hummel; children, Raymond Jr., Stanley, Leroy, Judith, Alan, Janet and Larry, all at home; brothers and sisters, Russell, Loyallville; Harold, Harveys Lake; Woodrow, Orange; Mrs. Alice Eckert, Mt. Pocono; Mrs. Marvin Scott, Dallas; Mrs. Media Fetterman, Catavissa; Mrs. Minnie LaBar, Indiana.

Services were held Monday afternoon from Bronson's Funeral Home, with interment in Maple Grove Cemetery. Rev. Fred Elster officiated.

The Noxen Auction pictures which appeared last week were taken by Tommy Andrew of the T-Bar-A studio.

ing business is demanding most of his time.

But could be, he says, he might go back into the dairy-herd field later on.

A dedicated dairyman thinks in terms of the soil, and of the herds which enrich it as they draw nourishment from it.

Fire At Laundry Stems From Light

On one of the muggiest days of the summer patrons in Shavertown Shopping Center were treated to a heavy smoke barrage when a fluorescent light fixture ballast in the Wormeck Laundromat caught fire.

Twelve firemen under the direction of Chief William Frederick answered the call at 5 p. m., Monday afternoon. Approximately ten feet of ceiling and the light fixture were removed by the firemen.

Smoke poured into the Acme Store next door gaining entry through a crack in the fire wall which allows for expansion. The weather maker in the air conditioning unit was turned on, clearing the big market in a short time.

Chief Frederick dismissed his men after tearing out the fixture and ceiling blocks but remained on the scene to check the trouble further. Still smelling burning material, he recalled assistant chiefs Walter Davis and Joseph Youngblood. Behind the dryers they found debris from the ceiling which was lying upon the wires and smoldering. Upon removal of the broken blocks, the danger was ended.

St. Andrew's Eastern Orthodox Church Is Founded

The community passes a new milestone in its development every time a new church is founded.

Such a milestone is the establishment of an Eastern Orthodox Church.

The first service will be held on Sunday, September 11, at Penn State Center, Hayfield House, a location which will be the church home until a permanent site is selected.

A number of locations have been suggested in this area, since the church was first projected last December. Plans have moved slowly, to gain added strength from gradual development.

St. Andrew's Eastern Orthodox Church is now a reality, the first such congregation in Northeastern Pennsylvania, following the lead of other Orthodox churches in other parts of the country, which have gathered the various branches of the Orthodox church under one generic term.

The Pastor is Rev. Gerald Sudick, pastor at Lopez, the two churches now united under one pastor.

All branches of the Orthodox Church in the Valley are cooperating, urging parishioners who live in the Back Mountain to support the new church.

James Kozemchak was named president, Paul Selingo vice-president, William Hoblak secretary, John Kriel treasurer, John Prokopchak auditor.

A Women's Guild has already been formed, with Mrs. Anton Humnick as president. Already received from Jack Stanley, Natona Mills, is a quantity of materials suitable for handwork, in preparation for a future bazaar or sale.

Father Sudick will remain at Lopez, thus eliminating any thought of providing quarters for the pastor at present.

Needed now is a bell, something which is traditionally used during the service at certain times.

The green light was flashed at the meeting of August 28, when final arrangements were made for the first church service September 11, at 11:30 a. m.

Rev. Andrew Pillarella, pastor of Trinity United Presbyterian Church, has been host to the group upon many occasions since March, making facilities for meeting available. To him goes a sincere vote of thanks from the new congregation.

Andrew Kozemchak is a trustee, along with Anton Humnick, George Hoblak, Albert Boiago and Nick Berdy.

Tim Jones, 20 Dodson Lane, Wilkes-Barre, is shown pinned in the car which his friend Raymond Payne, Carlisle Street, Wilkes-Barre, was driving when the vehicle crashed into a tree on Church Road at Huntsville last week.

The two young men were proceeding down the mountain at a fast clip when Police Chief Robert Cooper, Jackson Township jumped out of his car which was parked at Chase Corners and attempted to flag them down past the stop sign.

The driver stepped on it and Patrolmen Don Jones and Andrew Kasko jumped into Jones's car and pursued them. Payne failed to clear the curve with the result pictured above.

Walter Davis, Kingston Twp. Ambulance crewman, and others had to use a pry bar to open the door and get Tim Jones out. Both young fellows were admitted to Nesbitt Hospital with bruises and lacerations, but are now released.

Patrolman Don Jones stands in the foreground and behind him are Officer Kasko and Police Chief Robert Cooper. Kingston Township Ambulance waits in the background.

Labor Day Shoot At Muhlenburg Range

Muhlenburg Trap Range plans a shoot on Labor-Day, starting at 1 p. m. and lasting until after dark under lights. Varied events and prizes are scheduled.

A new automatic trap has recently been installed, making two shooting fields possible, and eliminating waiting in line.

Refreshments will be sold. The public is welcome.

Three Does Killed

Three does lost their lives in the Back Mountain early this week.

Edward Gdosky, game warden, reported the first killed on Carverton Road near Brown Manor Sunday evening. Early Monday morning he was summoned to remove the carcass of another at Lehman Center. That evening the third deer was the victim of a motorist near Greenbriar Inn at Harveys Lake.

Linear Stoppage Still A Stalemate

The Linear situation is still a stalemate, with no progress made, no compromise, no yielding on the side of either labor or management.

Out of work are 260 employees. George Marsden is president of the Local 204, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America.

A recent meeting meeting at the Hotel Sterling netted no progress.

The question of compensation for unemployment still hangs in abeyance, management protesting a recent ruling that strikers are eligible.

Deer Taking A Swim

The sight of a deer swimming across Harveys Lake at Alderson is nothing at all unusual, says Game Warden Ed Gdosky, but it always stops traffic.

A few days ago, an eight-point buck breasted the lake, and emerged dripping, sailing off in a magnificent arc toward the safety of the woods.

Cars resumed their drive around the lake, and anglers made another cast.

Gdosky says it is usually a dog that chases a deer into the water, yelping from the bank in frustration, as the quarry makes his getaway.

Two Youths Return Lost Purse Policeman Helps Find Owner

Two young Shavertown lads pointed up the fact that honesty is still a major virtue when they found a purse in the Shavertown Shopping Center parking lot Tuesday evening.

Robert Daubert, Spring Street and Malcolm Kitchen, Jr., Pioneer Avenue, did not open the bag upon discovery but went immediately to Luther Rozelle in the Acme Store. (Mr. Rozelle is a Kingston Township Special Police Officer).

Upon opening the purse, Mr. Rozelle discovered a large sum of money, including a two week pay and an identification card which belonged to Mrs. Robert Appleby, Orange.

With the boys in tow, Mr. Rozelle set out to inquire in the nearby shops for the owner and found her at McCrory's looking for her lost possession.

To say Mrs. Appleby was delighted was to put it mildly and she gave the boys a generous reward.

Matthew Higgins Nearing Century Mark As He Turns 97, August 26

Matthew Higgins, East Dallas, marked his 97th birthday on August 26.

Born in Ireland and raised in Scotland, Mr. Higgins came to this country when he was 17 years of age. Following the death of his wife Hattie, he went to live with his son, Samuel, and has been with them for a number of years.

Formerly a barber, he was employed by the Atlantic Refining Company for 25 years preceding retirement in 1936.

He has been an avid checker player and his family says he was difficult to defeat in a game. When his son moved to East Dallas ten years ago, he helped in construction of the home, doing a full day's work at age 85.

Mr. Higgins is a member of Llanerck Hills Chapel.

There are five children, Jack, Chester; George, Philadelphia; Sam, East Dallas; Harold, Philadelphia; and Sallie, who is a medical missionary in Tanzania, Africa, where she operates the clinic run by the Africa Inland Mission. Also 12 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren and eight great-great-grandchildren.

Dymond Takes Director Seat

Bid Let For Baseball Field At Senior High

Fred Dymond, Jr., representing Franklin Township was sworn in as a new school board member Friday evening at a meeting of directors by Mrs. Louise Steinhauer who presided at the adjourned meeting.

Members awarded the contract for excavating, grading and seeding of the baseball field at the Senior High School to Dallas Nursery at their low bid of $3900. Job is to be completed by September 15.

Filing of forms with the Department of Public Instruction for the addition to the Senior High School were authorized, such being necessary before any further plans can be made. Also approved was the submission of Form 40 B, necessary for the district's building program with the Public Instruction Business Bureau.

Space Needed Here

Greatest need for additional space in the senior high has changed plans to erect an elementary building first. Discussion was held on the conversion of the present junior high building to an elementary school for the 5th and 6th grades on a temporary basis with the structure to be razed at a later date.

Following a discussion with Donald Smith of the firm of Roushey, Smith and Miller, as to bond issues and land to be procured for the new junior high building etc., the building and grounds committee was authorized to have appraisals made of the land considered necessary for the new building.

Mrs. Martha Longmore was named a professional employee to replace Mr. Hukill in the art department and Mrs. Alwina Mathers a temporary professional employee to teach German in the junior high school.

Mrs. Janet Davis was appointed on a temporary basis to teach reading in the Federal program. The resignation of Mrs. Carol Palermo was accepted. A fourth grade teacher will be hired after the first day of school if one is needed. Allowance was made for this in the budget.

P. O. Dedication

Harveys Lake Post Office will be dedicated October 22 at 11 a. m., according to word received by Postmaster Roy Tyson.

Congressman Daniel J. Flood and postal heads will arrive in the Back Mountain to officiate at ceremonies.

In the afternoon of the same day, dignitaries will go to Dallas where they will dedicate the new Post Office there at 2 p. m.

The Acme Markets Homemakers Contest will be a new feature, offering valuable prizes for the winning homemade product in eight classes. Electric Teflon Skillet will be awarded to the winning entry in three classes of Cakes, Pies and Other Pastries, such as buns, rolls, breakfast cakes, cupcakes. In the remaining five classes, merchandise certificates will be given.

Anyone may enter by obtaining an official entry blank at the Dallas or Shavertown Acme Markets. All entries are to be from home recipes and may be entered in the contest at the Fall Fair at Lehman Horse Show Grounds on Friday, Sept. 16 between 6 and 9 p. m. or Saturday morning, Sept. 17 between 9 and 12 a. m. There will be no entry fee.

The Art Section of the Hobby Show will again present many beautiful paintings in all media by artists from all areas of the Back Mountain and Wyoming Valley. Prizes will be offered in both professional and amateur classes, plus ribbons. Every artist is urged to bring his paintings.

The Student Art Section will again be a pleasant feature. Parents are invited to have their student bring his best work to enter in the class, according to his grade. Elementary, junior high and senior high classes will be made.

Jane Cornell, Art Teacher at the Lake-Lehman Area Senior High School, will be the chairman with Lynne Jordan, Moore College of Art Graduate, as co-chairman, of the Art Sections.

Needlecrafts, Decorative Arts and Floral Arrangements will also be sponsored by a prominent local industry and valuable prizes in each of these sections, plus ribbons, will be awarded.

Everyone is invited to enter a craft or hobby in the show. Programs of the hobby show are available from any member of the Dallas Rotary Club or write to the Hobby Show Chairman and a program will be mailed to you. He is Dr. L. E. Jordan, Carverton Rd., Trucksville, Pa. There is no entry fee in any section of the Hobby Show.

Complete Hobby Show schedule will appear in the issue of September 8.

Lehman Speaker

RICHARD BRUCE DAVIS

Keynote speaker for the afternoon session of Lake-Lehman In-Service training September 6 will be Richard Bruce Davis, who will discuss "Television, an Educational Assistant."

Employees of the school district will meet for lunch in the high school cafeteria at 12:30, after teachers have spent the morning in the schools to which they have been assigned. Supervising Principal Robert Z. Belles will preside.

At a meeting of Lake-Lehman Educational Association, Stanley Gulbish, president, will speak. Mr. Davis is Film Supervisor and Producer Director of WVIA-TV, Northeastern Pennsylvania's new Community owned Educational Television station.

Mr. Davis has an impressive academic and technical background. He most recently held the position of Director of Instruction and Supervisor of the Audio-Visual Center at Hunter College, City University of New York. Previously he was a Producer Director for WUFT-TV and WRUF-FM.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Florida, his Master's in Television Production from New York University.

Mr. Davis is one of the highly qualified staff of Channel 44, WVIA-TV which will begin broadcasting Educational, Cultural and Public Affairs programs in September of this year.

Labor Day Holiday

Labor Day means no mail at the Dallas Post. Correspondents who use the mails are asked to have their material here on Saturday, or better still, on Friday. There will be somebody here to answer the phone on Monday morning.

Spectators Enjoy Paintings Exhibited At Last Year's Rotary Club Fair

Dr. L. E. Jordan, chairman of hobbies, arts and crafts for the annual Dallas Rotary Fall Fair, announces that the schedule for these exhibits has been prepared and is available from Rotarians and at many business places in the area. The public is cordially invited to participate.

The Dallas Rotary Fall Fair, now in its fourth year, will be held on the Lehman Horse Show Grounds, Route 118, Saturday and Sunday, September 17 and 18.

Shown above is a section of the art exhibit at the fair last year with interested spectators admiring the entries. Dr. Jordan has asked Mrs. Kenneth Cornell and Miss Linda Jordan to act as co-chairmen of this division of the arts and crafts section.

Exhibitors must bring their paintings to the show grounds on Friday, September 16, 6 to 9 p. m., or Saturday, September 17, 9 to 12 a. m. Entry blanks, available at the show, must be attached to each painting. Special sections will be provided for elementary grades, Junior High School, Senior High School; also for adults, both amateur and professional. Entries will be judged and cash prizes and ribbons awarded.
