Students who wish to participate in the Foreign Exchange Program sponsored by Dallas Rotary are to see Miss Bator between 8 and 8:20 daily in the Student Activity Room.

The Knights lost to Dallas 18-7 on September 24. Although the team was beaten, they played an excellent game. There was a fine display of sportsmanship and school spirit at the game.

Charles Weaver and Joseph Sabutski, members of the 1966 graduating class, received an award for participating in the Regional Trouble Shooting Contest, Plymouth Division of the Chrysler Corporation, held in Harrisburg last spring.

Eligible football players were measured for jackets on September 28.

Charlie Kern, who was injured at the Dallas game, is showing improvement.

Individual pictures were taken on Monday, October 3. These pictures will also be used in the yearbook.

The J. V. football players beat Dallas 20 to 0 on September 26.

Campaign for ads and patrons for the 1967 yearbook is now underway. The goal is $2000. Any senior who has brought in $20 or more will receive a yearbook free of charge.

On October 8, the Student Council will sponsor Parents Day before the game begins with Northwest. Mothers of the football players will receive corsages and the fathers will be given cigars.

The Junior Class dance will be held tomorrow evening in the cafeteria from 8 to 11.

Plans Chicken Barbecue

They will now undergo four weeks of individual combat training and four weeks of basic specialist training in their military job fields before being assigned to a permanent unit.

Babson's Point Of View On:

MORE PEOPLE WORKING LONGER HOURS

Most people take it for granted that more and more of the regularly employed are enjoying a steadily shorter workweek. They assume that the fact that the Fair Labor Standards Act has set a 40-hour week for so many millions of the nation's workers. The feeling is that most people prefer leisure time to a higher income from working longer.

Actual Facts A Big Surprise

Studies made by the Labor Department, however, indicate that a significant and growing portion of our working force actually works more than 48 hours a week. Measuring the trend from 1948 to 1965, the total of men and women employed in nonfarm occupations for more than 48 hours a week has nearly doubled.

While these people do not make up a majority of the nation's workers, they are important. In 1948 some 4.8 million nonfarm employees were putting in more than 48 hours a week, and by 1965 this number had jumped to 9.4 million. This was an impressive jump from 12.9% of the entire full-time nonfarm work force to 19.7%.

Comparison With Other Labor Groups

For the same time period, there was a fair increase in the number of full-time nonfarm employees working between 35 and 40 hours, mostly the result of the Fair Labor statute. This proportion of the total non-agricultural labor reservoir moved ahead from 4.8% to 8.2%. The gain here was chiefly a result of the slide-off in the number working from 41 to 48 hours a week. Evidently many companies preferred to take on more workers or cut back personnel rather than pay time and a half.

The total of those working over 48 hours a week has increased sufficiently, however, since 1948 to offset the statistical changes in the other categories. Surprising result: Average weekly hours for the full-time nonfarm labor force have held at about 45, roughly the same in 1965 as in 1948. This is surely counter to the general impression.

Why This Strong Unexpected Tendency?

Why are between 9 and 10 million people, almost one-fifth of the full-time nonagricultural working force, at their jobs 49 hours or more every week? Why is the number climbing steadily? Who are these employees? Studies suggest that extraordinarily long hours prevail among employees in the trade and service industries, and in managerial, professional, sales, and private-household fields. In government and manufacturing, there are seldom opportunities for working longer than 48 hours a week, so frequently second or "moonlighting" jobs serve to raise the average of weekly hours worked.

There appear to be a good many, also, who are so interested in their work that they put in long hours consistently. This doubtless accounts for the sizable proportion of professional and technical employees, whose hours often range to 70-a-week and more. Many men and women in especially responsible positions are either required or expected to be on the job most of their waking hours. This would explain the high incidence of particularly long workweeks among managerial employees.

Cheerleaders

The ninth grade cheerleaders will cheer at the three football games played on their home field, 3rd, 10th, and 24th of October. Of the sixteen girls, eight will cheer at each game. Let's get a crowd to root for our Falcons!

Football - Plymouth

On Saturday, September 26 the Falcons played a good game against Plymouth. The score was 26-0. Two touchdowns were scored by Bob Post, assisted by the blocking of Bill Burdick and Rhys Adams. Jimmy Miller scored on a pass thrown by Scott Lefko. Miller also made a touchdown on a forty yard run assisted by the blocking of Ernie Gelb. Extra points were scored by Bob Post and Wayne Nichol.

The Falcons played to a tie score against Tunkhannock. This game was played here on our home field September 26. The score was 13-13. Seventh Grade "Get Together"

A successful "Get Together" dance for the seventh graders only was held on September 30. Coats and ties were the attire for boys, and our 7th graders looked terrific!

DeBarry Children, Hosts At Corn, Wiener Roast

Steve Jr., Paul and Robin DeBarry, children of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. DeBarry of Oak Hill, entertained neighborhood friends last Tuesday at a weiner roast which, due to rain, was held in the DeBarry's rumpus room.

Present were: Rick, Tim and Scott Bingham, Bill and Mike Frey, Keith Bickling, Jeff Smith, the hosts and hostess.

Checkers, ping pon, darts and parcheesi were played by the young men.

ly married men between 25 and 44, who work all possible extra hours because they need more income. In this category are many in low-pay industries and occupations, especially services and trades, who take more than one job to support a wife and children.

As long as living costs and living standards continue to climb, there is reason to look for further increases in the proportion of our labor force working above-average hours each week. Reducing permissible hours of work for more people is bound to mean more "overtime" and more "moonlighting." So the trend will continue toward longer hours a week for a large part of the work force.
