Children Learn What They Live With

Every once in awhile, we lift something from St. Therese's Church Bulletin.

This present excerpt seems with published on the Church Page.

If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn.

If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight.

If a child lives with fears, he learns to be apprehensive.

If a child lives with pity, he learns to feel sorry for himself.

If a child lives with jealousy, he learns to feel guilty.

If a child lives with encouragement, he learns to be confident.

If a child lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient.

If a child lives with praise, he learns to be appreciative.

If a child lives with acceptance, he learns to love.

If a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself.

If a child lives with recognition, he learns it is good to have a goal.

If a child lives with honesty, he learns what truth is.

Community School of The Bible Has Drawn Good Registration From Area

The newly formed Community School of the Bible, meeting in the recreation room of the Bittenbender home on Machell Avenue last Monday night, drew a gathering of twenty-five, among them Harry F. Martin who expects to enter the ministry.

He will teach practical Christianity

Mr. Martin, Fernbrook, has already supplied a number of pulpits as a lay preacher, among them that of Grace Presbyterian in Durban; the Independent Church of Noxen which has recently attracted Jerry Talent as a preacher, following resignation of Rev. Warren Hathaway; Primitive Methodist in Fernbrook, where the pastor is Rev. Andrew Derrick; Calvary Bible Chapel, off the Muhlenburg Road; Second Congregational Welsh Church in Wilkes-Barre.

He has also worked as chaplain at Luzerne County Prison, and has been active in the Wayside Mission.

During the last months of World War II, he was in training as a paratrooper at Fort Benning, Ga., the war ending with the completion 1944, entering the armed services immediately.

In Fernbrook, his home town, he worked with the Little League for five years, and with the Teen-League for three.

He is married and has three children, one a sophomore in Dallas High School, the two younger ones twins, boy and girl, in the fifth grade.

The Community School of the Bible affords Mr. Martin an opportunity to further his education in the ministry.

It is too late now, states Rev. B. Kirby Jones, founder of the school, to accept any more registrations for this term. Further work will be offered later on.

Rev. Jones, pastor of Community Bible Church at Sweet Valley, has had in mind for several months the possible foundation of a school for Bible study. The present venture is the outcome of this plan.

Rev. Jones, in addition to his pastoral duties, broadcasts regularly, five days a week, over WNAK, and on Sundays at 11:30 a.m. Hours are 1 to 1:30 and at 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Ted Poad Dies Suddenly

Since moving to Shavertown 30 years ago, Mrs. Poad had been active in the affairs of Shavertown Methodist Church of which she was a member, the WSCS and Berean Class. For a number of years, she assisted her husband in the duties of the tax office.

The former Helen Alpaugh, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Alpaugh, Mrs. Poad was born in Wyoming and attended schools there. She and Mr. Poad celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary this year.

Mrs. Casterline, widow of Albert Casterline, belonged to Noxen Methodist Church and was a charter member of its WSCS. She was also a member of the Dallas Post Eighty-Plus Club, admitted at the time the Club was still taking new members, before the call of home-town papers for the boys in Vietnam became a more urgent matter.

ross, and Osmand, all of Noxen; Mrs. Nevin Benner, Richfield; James, Buffalo; 21 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Lulu Gilmore, Noxen.

EMILY GOLDSMITH WAS DEDICATED
Teaching Was Her Sole Life Interest

In the face of advancing and inevitable illness, Emily Goldsmith could not give up her chosen profession of teaching.

After the close of the school year this spring, she returned to the library at Dallas Junior High School, to get things in order, and leave the library shipshape for the summer.

She remained on the roll of faculty members until August 31, still clinging to the hope that she might be able to return. She had been hospitalized since August 17th.

Teaching was her life.

When she died at Nesbitt Hospital Friday night, aged 58, the career of a dedicated educator ended, one which had begun when she was eighteen years old.

Teaching Was Her Sole Life Interest

In the face of advancing and inevitable illness, Emily Goldsmith could not give up her chosen profession of teaching.

After the close of the school year this spring, she returned to the library at Dallas Junior High School, to get things in order, and leave the library shipshape for the summer.

She remained on the roll of faculty members until August 31, still clinging to the hope that she might be able to return. She had been hospitalized since August 17th.

Teaching was her life.

When she died at Nesbitt Hospital Friday night, aged 58, the career of a dedicated educator ended, one which had begun when she was eighteen years old.

Her pallbearers were fellow faculty members, gathered to do her honor: Sheldon Mosier, Alfred M. Camp, John Rosser, Robert Dolbear, John Baur, Thomas Carr.

She was born in Demands, her parents Benjamin and Ada Pemberton Goldsmith.

She attended normal school at Bloomsburg, obtaining a teaching certificate, and taught, first in elementary schools, later in Junior High.

In line with later requirements for teachers, she studied during the summers, in Colorado, in New York at Columbia, and more recently at Kutztown where she completed library science courses and took a Master's degree.

For a time at Junior High she combined the teaching of social studies with the handling of the library. Eventually the library absorbed her entire time.

John Rosser, principal at Dallas Junior High, says of her. "She was here when I came in 1940. She was here when I came back from the World War II. I had hoped that she would be here for many years. I learned a great deal from her. All of us did. She was a fine teacher, absolutely dedicated. Time meant nothing to her. Her whole life interest was right here in this school."

Church affiliations were with Orange Methodist. She belonged to the National Educators Association.

Miss Emily leaves two sisters, Irma Goldsmith, at home, and Mrs. Charlotte Weaver, Harveys Lake, once on the substitute list at Dallas, now teacher of special education at Lake elementary school.

Another sister, Miss Estella Goldsmith, died some years ago.

Burial was at Chapel Lawn Monday morning, Rev. William Reid, pastor of Carverton Methodist Charge, conducting services from the Disque Funeral Home.

Clarence Rinken Has Fatal Heart Attack

Victim of a fatal heart attack, Clarence (Clem) Rinken was pronounced dead on arrival Friday night at Nesbitt Hospital. He had been stricken suddenly at his home in Idetown. He would have observed his 66th birthday this Saturday.

Native of Wilkes-Barre Township, he had been a resident of Idetown for the past fifty years. Since 1948 he had owned and operated Rinken's Tavern on the Old Lake Highway.

He was a member of St. John the Baptist Church in Larksville; Harveys Lake Rod and Gun Club, and Jonathan R. Davis Fire Company.

He leaves his widow, the former Nell Sefick; two sons: William, Houston Texas, and PFC Robert, with the United States Marines in Jacksonville; one grandchild; a sister, Mrs. Rodney Ingram, Hopewell, Virginia.

Burial was on Tuesday from a Kingston funeral home.
