LAKE LEHMAN High School News

by James Pall

Our Spirit
Even though the Lake-Lehman Knights lost the hard fought game with the Dallas Mountaineers, our school spirit was great. We hope this spirit will continue for our final game of the season with Wyoming Seminary, Saturday at Nesbitt Field. Good luck, boys.

Salute To Cheerleaders
Three cheers for our hard working cheerleaders who have increased our school spirit not only by cheering, but also by displaying their fine artwork on the walls of our cafeteria. Director of Cheerleaders is Miss Maureen Purcell.

L-L H. S. Band
The Lake-Lehman High School Band under the direction of John Miliauskas has put on some fine performances in the past few weeks. They received many compliments on the concert played for Teacher's Institute at Coughlin and also for the pre-game and half-time shows performed at football games. Two visits to Wilkes-Barre, one for the United Fund, the other for Veteran's Day resulted in a first place trophy for the latter.

High School Artist Paints Decorations

Scott Strohl, senior at Dallas High School, took charge of decorating the windows at Irem Country Club for the Kiwanis dance, assisted by Key Club and Keyettes. Using water tempera, the high school artist developed a winter scene and a timely pumpkin and candle motif.

The paintings will remain on the windows until Thanksgiving.

Scott, a student of Robert Hukill, art teacher at Dallas High School, has shown his paintings in many exhibits. He expects to continue art work at college.

Bloomburg College To Offer Mata and Hari

The internationally famous duet, Mata and Hari, will be presented by Bloomburg State College through its Evening Entertainment Series on the stage of Carver Auditorium, Saturday, November 12, at 8:15 p.m. The performance is open to the public and tickets may be secured at the door. The price of admission is $1.50 for adults and $0.50 for students.

The particular art of dance and satire that is Mata and Hari is without peer in show business. Audiences in this country and abroad take particular delight in watching Mata and Hari engage a theme, idea, or emotion and capture its essential elements. Through dance, movement, gesticulation, or just plain old mugging, they can project an idea far more realistically and hard hitting than the spoken word. They are the present day exponents of the art of mime, an art dating back to the very beginnings of Theatre but almost lost to us today.
