Off The Hook!

Early last week we tried to phone Dottie down in Baltimore to find out if she got back all right from wherever she had been for the week-end. Report came from the answering man in the residence hall that "Miss Gilbert's extension is busy." So would I place my call later. I would—and did. What under the sun was she hanging on that extension of hers so long for? Considerable later someone went to her room to find out. The phone had somehow been knocked off the hook by mistake—and had been busy ever since! So she called us, because the man in charge told her he thought it might be her father.

Release

Ruth's sister Jennie Congdon who has been an invalid for years and had been in the hospital in Susquehanna several times the past year died last Thursday, evidently from a stroke. We drove to Binghamton Sunday to attend the funeral. As often happens at such an event we met relatives we hadn't seen for some time.

Tuffy

While we were on that trip to Binghamton we decided to board Tuffy out because after visiting after the funeral it would be too long to leave him in the house alone. Tuffy covers and trembles every time he has to go there for the waiting room is covered with linoleum and he skids all over. He has been there before and would rather lie down in the grass than go in. He says "There's just no toe-hold a-tall!"

Visitors

Last Saturday we had a pleasant surprise in the persons of two nice visitors, the Rev. and Mrs. Francis Freeman who are living in Pittstown, N.J., but presently vacationing at their home up in the country between Falls and Center Moreland. The Freemans were formerly pastor of Dallas and East Dallas when we were at Carverton twenty years ago. I showed him some carpenter work I've started on our front porch and told him he (or any other friends who come along) could comment when looking at my home improvement work "That looks just like Charlie Gilbert's work", and I would take it as a compliment if I was feeling sort of stuck on my skill at the time. Otherwise it would be a true to life comment anyway! Then I took him around the house and showed him my beans at the foot of my bean pole. The beans haven't grown two inches since I planted them in the spring. But the bean pole has all leaves out and is a tree! How Francis laughed when he saw that!

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Siley had their baby baptized last Sunday August 6, at the East Dallas Methodist Church by Rev. Howard Hockenbury. Mrs. Siley is the former Janet Harris, daughter of Mr.
