Steak Dinner

The Spring Recognition Banquet was held May 14 at 6. Mr. Gerald Stinson, Director of Athletics, was in charge of the affair. The purpose of the banquet was to honor and recognize those who have made a contribution to the school either in the line of athletics, band, or AVA. A fine steak dinner was served to these people in the cafeteria. Afterwards the group assembled in the auditorium where the coaches and other moderators presented the awards. Joseph Kurpis, former coach and present head of King's College Evening and Extension School was guest speaker.

Junior-Senior Prom

Anybody knows that the best part about a Prom is waiting for it to come. Invitations, reservations, making flowers, decorating, clothes and corsages, lots and lots of talk, shopping, big discussions about where to go after the Prom, more talk, and then it was Friday. Guards were posted outside the doors of the gym and the decoration committee rolled up their sleeves. Meanwhile, over at the office, Mr. Dolbear's hand was given quite a workout as he autographed excuse after excuse for those hair-dresser appointments. Around about noon the student population started to dwindle. 4 o'clock, 5 o'clock, 5:30, 6:30, 7 o'clock, 7:15, 7:30. Couples, finally escaping from parents' cameras, headed for the school. Through the receiving line, under the arbor, and into an Oriental world of dim lights, goldfish, and music, a setting to complement the theme of Love Is A Many Splendored Thing. All too, soon it was over. Restaurants, parties, home to Mom and Dad (What, me worry? Ridiculous! Why should I wait up for you? There was just this real good movie on the late late show, and . . .) A few hours sleep, and then for the juniors it was back to the school to undecorate, while seniors took off for a picnic at Rickett's Glen. So now it's all over for another year.

Sports

Dallas trackmen tied Central last Tuesday in the best attended meet of the season (twenty-five people), but fell to Wyoming Area two days later. Don't forget the District 2 meets tomorrow.

The Golf Team of Dallas swept to an undecided league championship with little trouble from competitors, finishing with an impressive 15-1 record.

Meanwhile, the baseball team recorded a 7-4 win over Lake-Lehman as they bombed Charlie Kern and Gary Sponseller. Dallas fought hard after trailing by 4-0 at the end of the first inning, coming up with 3 runs in the fourth to make it 4-3. Lehman came up with 2 runs in the top of the fifth. Dallas bounced back with 4 runs in the bottom of the sixth with Bob Katyl's bases-loaded single, the key hit. The leading hitters were Jan McDade and Bob Katyl with 2 hits a piece. Gary Sponseller managed two hits for the Lake-Lehman team.

Rogers got the win while Sponseller posted a loss.

Future Engineers

Sophomore history projects have the display cases this week. One enterprising 10th grader brought in a real live honest to goodness gingerbread house.

Stripes!

Latest fad around the school is those blue and white sweatshirts ordered several weeks ago. We're still waiting to see a teacher sporting one.

Fashion Show

Homeroom teachers enjoyed a reprieve Tuesday afternoon when the girls went to the auditorium to enjoy a "mod" fashion show presented by the Fashion and Design Club (Sorry about that, fellas, no bathing suits. You weren't invited anyway) The Rubber Bands, against a background of daisies provided music for the shopping spree theme. A large variety of clothes were shown, co-ordinated by Sharon Musto. The show had been arranged by a committee consisting of Judy Blase, Patty Blazes, Judy Allen, Debbie Anthony, Carol Trumbower, and Sharon Musto. Some how the girls had conned Chuck LaBerge, Jeff Gillis, Bill Guyette, and Scott Lefko into acting as escorts for the gowns.

Friendly Neighborhood Reporters

While we were going around the halls getting news for this column, inspiration struck! Why wait until September to see the new ring? Mr. Evans agreed, so sporting our press cards we crossed over into a world of ladders and lunch boxes, and wood shavings, metal scraps, and wire. Now we are qualified to pass on a description to you. The halls are about twice as wide as the old ones, and are lined with big blue lockers—no more fights during congestion, for they're not one on top of the other (no more fun, either) There are no knobs—how are we going to switch them around? The rooms are bigger, with different accessories such as raised platforms and stained cupboards. The fire alarms are built into little white boxes in the wall. We only located two water fountains. The best thing about it,

Westmoreland Sixth Graders Visit Misericordia

Sixth graders of Westmoreland Elementary School toured the science department of College Misericordia last week, according to Stephen B. Lucas, biology department. Members of the Education Club conducted the tour in conjunction with the Mendel Science and the Pasteur Chemistry Clubs. Pictured above outside the Hafey Science Hall are the youngsters with Principal John Mulhern (left) and Mrs. Rita Lucas (right), their teacher.

Included in the tour were a number of demonstrations by the college students, who showed how bacteria are cultured, how blood typing is done, and how a polygraph works.

In zoology and comparative anatomy they received a talk and saw a display of skeletons and live and preserved specimens.

Some of the chemical principles were shown in a demonstration using chemical indicators as applied to acids and bases, as well as weather forecasting.

A demonstration of the Geiger Counter and radioactive counting techniques was also given.

The library, home economics department, dormitories and student union center were included on the tour, conducted May 10.

SHAVERTOWN

That Blasted Signal

The very aggravating long light at Roushey and Center Streets entered the picture again last week when Hazel Honeywell could have been seriously injured. As it was the rear of the car suffered quite expensive damage.

As many folks have done, one waits and waits for the signal to change in their favor so when it eventually turned green, the officer on duty waved Mrs. Honeywell across. She was almost safely through when a too eager motorist seeing the highway side turn green never looked to see if any one was crossing and slammed into her. There were others, too, but they had the courtesy and awareness to let her pass.

Mothers Day

Despite a rainy weekend, many folks left for other areas to visit and out of towners returned here. During most of the day the sun peeped through but it turned miserable again at night. Sunday was a day to pay homage to mother and how nice it is to remember that cherished parent and be able to show her love and consideration while she is still among us. For many of us who have lost one of the most important people in our lives we can only remember with a heart full of gratitude the many unselfish deeds she performed, her constant understanding and wisdom and the precious heritage she left behind.

Police Addition

We were happy to note the addition of a third police officer but if an all night vigil cannot be maintained then we, too, would favor the fourth man. Night time is when greater protection should be offered at certain points of traffic where the highest volume is centered. Just casually cruising around is hardly necessary during daylight hours.

Better Lighting

Dan Shaver and John Funke must be glad that better lighting has now become a reality for both men were certainly in favor of this since the times they served on our supervisors board. It is almost certain that other areas will ultimately receive the same.

On The Upswing

There certainly appears to be an upswing in drinking among the younger generation. Parents can help a great deal to discourage the habit but it seems that the eager tavern owners who break the law should be dealt with more severely. Youngsters are prone to appear a good fellow to their companions and often the results are disastrous.

Debbie Is Queen

Congratulations go to Debbie Allen, who was chosen Queen of the Prom at the Dallas High School affair on Friday evening. We have watched her grow up and she is a lovely child. We hear also that she made her own gown, being adept as a homemaker. She is the oldest child of Joe and Lorraine Allen.

New Secretary

With the resignation of Carol Dilfield as secretary of the township, the possibility of Edward Richards being a probable successor sounds good to all of us who were aware of his exceptional efficiency while serving in that capacity several years ago. I was rather surprised to note the report in the daily paper for I am sure Supervisor Mathers was much in favor of Mr. Richards for the job.

Invoice In

Chairman Edward Hall was able to secure an invoice for the erection of the traffic lights in time to present the copy from Rowlands Electric to the State Highway Department and meet the deadline required for reimbursement. Sometimes it takes tact to accomplish what needs doing.

We hear that a certain supervisor was so angry on Sunday that he took off at a dangerous pace up Carverton Road. One must learn that working together takes a little give as well as a lot of take. Public office is no easy task in the best of atmospheres.

Here And There

Dr. and Mrs. Albert Blase were getting ready to come home two weeks ago from the Southland when he accidentally fractured his hip. The consequent confinement will delay their return here and I am sure that Dr. Blase would appreciate hearing from his friends and neighbors.

His address is 3318 Orange Avenue, Fort Pierce, Florida. A speedy recovery is sent to aid in his recuperation.

We were happy to hear that Mrs. Alice Reese has been taken out of the intensive care unit and is on the mend. She is a patient at Nesbitt Hospital.

Mrs. Anna Dressel and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ash spent Mother's Day in Philadelphia as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hontz and family.

Mrs. Letha Spaulding has gone to the home of her sister in Kings-ton to recuperate from accident injuries suffered recently. She was discharged from Nesbitt Hospital last week.
