The Huntsville Christian Church, now celebrating 125 years of service, has undergone considerable change since the first pastor took to the pulpit in 1843.

Huntsville Church observes

Huntsville Christian Church is 125 years old. It observed its birthday October 26 at fitting exercises, culmination of a weekend of fellowship which began with a banquet Saturday evening.

George Ralston, Dean of Students at Wilkes College, spoke at the banquet, taking as his topic "The Challenge to the Church."

Mrs. Gordon Wolverton sang, "Bless This House."

Former ministers present included Rev. Charles H. Frick, and Rev. Richard Bevan, Rev. Earl Turner, pastor of Plymouth Christian Church, president.

Plymouth Christian Church was the mother church of Huntsville Christian, when the congregation was formed in 1843, and a church erected.

Forty Fort Meeting House is only thirteen years older.

There was little change in the structure until 1914, when the building was jacked up, and a basement excavated.

At this time the central heating stove was removed, and a furnace installed. The original hand-made pews were replaced with a more modern type.

The building was rededicated December 19, 1914. Another rededication took place December 6, 1927, after a larger basement had been excavated, and improvements made.

In 1942, the church purchased from Mrs. Rogers the land to the rear of the church, at a cost of $550, looking forward to erection of a parsonage.

Some time earlier, the limited plot of land on which the church edifice stood, had been increased by land bought from Mrs. Rogers on all three sides for a sum of $900. In those days, this amount was a substantial sum, at a time when a dollar a day was the going wage.

The original plot of land had been deeded to the infant church by Truman Atherton, thirteen years later he had donated lumber for its construction.

The congregation had been modest in its original estimate of the amount of land needed. Five feet all around the foundations, the church considered adequate. The church was established as non-denominational.

In 1949, major repairs were required for a badly weakened roof.

After much work had been done, inside and out, the edifice was again rededicated May 8, 1949.

An organ presented to the church was first used on Christmas Day of 1949. The tower music installation was first used December 16, 1951.

The parsonage, fulfillment of a dream, was built and dedicated October 21, 1951. At this time, another lot, with a 50 foot frontage, was purchased for a garden. Rev. Frick loved flowers and the cultivation of vegetables. For years he supplied sweet corn for church outings.

From that time forth, the church made great strides. In 1955 a modern heating plant was installed, and an outdoor fireplace and patio built between church and parsonage.

Educational rooms and a cry-room were built and dedicated in 1956.

It is worthy of note that Mrs. Wolverton, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Frick who were the first occupants of the parsonage, sang "Bless this House" at its dedication, just as she did on Sunday at rededication of the church.

Miss Elma Major has in her collection of clippings some fascinating material on early Huntsville, which overshadowed Dallas until the Lehigh Valley Railroad selected Dallas as its gateway to the lumberlands beyond.

Bible Crusade JUDGE at Glenview

Evangelist Dale Linebaugh will conduct a Bible crusade at Glenview Primitive Methodist Church, beginning Saturday, November 2 and continuing through Sunday November 10. Services will begin each night at 7:30 p.m., except Sundays, when the hour is 7 p.m.

There will be no meeting Saturday, November 9 in order that Evangelist Linebaugh may hold a western rally at Youth for Christ in Dallas.

Following nine years in the pastorate, Mr. Linebaugh is now in his 13th year as an evangelist.

He received his education at the Practical Bible Training School in Johnson City, N.Y. and Keystone Junior College, in La Plume.

Mr. Linebaugh is director of Miracle Mountain Ranch in Spring Creek, a real working ranch raising quarter horses and beef cattle.

He conducts a Bible conference during the months of July and August.

"Take responsibility. Forget the permissive attitude. Remember that the function of a parent is to prepare a child for stable adulthood."

Parents visited classrooms after the lecture.

Paul Selingo, PTA president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Oec Austin's sixth grade decorated the blackboard in advance, launching rockets from a blue earth to a red moon, winking one eye at the stars in the black sky.

It was their own idea, Mrs. Austin said, with a little Halloween atmosphere thrown in, a witch riding high on one of the rockets.

The assemblage enjoyed coffee, doughnuts and cider after the gavel fell for dismissal.

Joy Class of Kunkle Methodist Church will enjoy its annual banquet November 7 at 6:30 at Hotel Sterling. In charge of reservations are Helen Landon and Dorothy Dodson.

"discuss-ims"

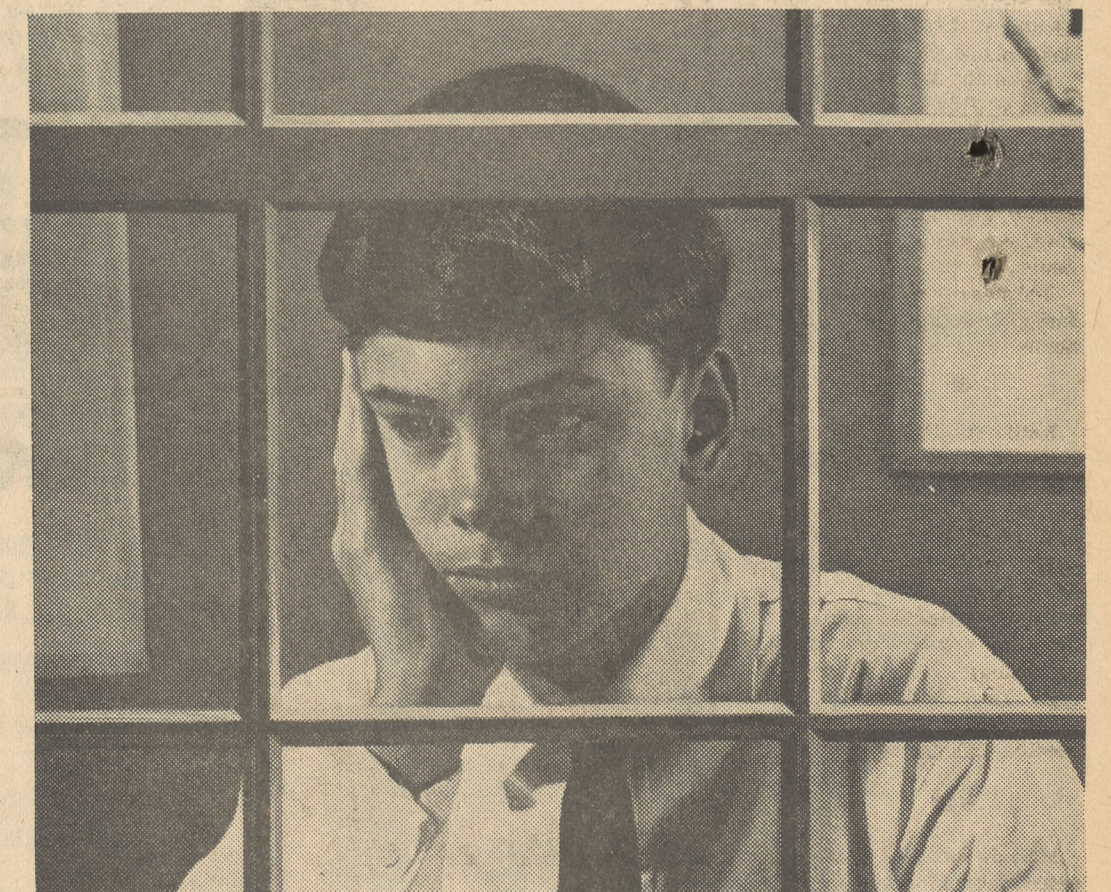

The first in a series of "Discuss-ims," sponsored by Gate of Heaven parish, was held Oct. 28, following the 7:15 evening Mass, in the school auditorium.

Rev. Thomas V. Bannick, assistant pastor at Gate of Heaven, says all Back Mountain residents are invited to attend and participate in the program.

Msgr. Francis Kane is pastor of Gate of Heaven.

Personal

Danny Spencer wishes to thank those friends who sent him cards and flowers during his ten-day stay at Nesbitt Hospital, and special thanks to Father Bannick.

You're looking at an unusual orphan. An orphan with living parents.

How can an orphan have parents? When they're parents who don't care enough to say "NO!" And look the other way because—"All the other kids are doing it." Even though it's against the law.

You'll find a lot of these teen-age "orphans" at the scene of accidents caused by drinking and driving. The ones still able to talk say things like: "My dad doesn't care."

Every child needs parents. Teenagers need them desperately. Parents who care enough to say "No" to teen-age drinking. And love their children enough to mean it.
