The snowmen have melted and the refuse of fall is once again in veiw. After a good storm which cancelled school and meetings the rain has swept in, but this is what we must expect in the transition of the seasons.

With a local marine telling of the needs of the children in wartorn Vietnam, Luther League of St. Paul's got together a nice package of clothing and gifts for the youngsters. Pastor Bispels was in charge and the children were real happy to think they were bringing happiness to someone far-far away.

With many of our boys still abroad, lose no time in sending off those packages, cards and letters so their Christmas may be shared in spirit.

Myrtle Miller was real pleased to have her (once a year visitor and wife) Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allen from Bethlehem, come to vist her one day last week.

Raymond, as a young boy, lived with Myrtle and her late husband Bert, and worked for them, till he married and made his own home. How nice to know that he remembers and returns at least that once a year to reminisce over those "good old days." They brought her a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

D. Friend Hildebrant and wife Mavis, Apalachin, N.Y., arrived last weekend at his sister Myrtle Miller's, to get her winterized, so to say; they put her winter windows, storm doors on before setting down to a delicious roast beef dinner Myrtle prepared for them. A fine brother to have.

I wonder if you, who are reading this, have as clear a remembrance of Armistice Day 50 years ago. I certainly do and will never forget it. I was working in Hess and Goldsmith's silk mill at the time. If you have never heard the tremendous noise of all the machinery, you can not realize was like when at 11 o'clock that morning, all of a sudden all machinery stopped and you could have heard a pin

Our boss was a stout German man, elderly, and was running up and down the aisles crying like a baby, from joy. He had parts of families over there whom he evidently had been praying for as well as we had been praying for our boys who were still over there.

Well the mill shut down and we all streamed out, to see the streets full of laughing, crying people. Yet how many folks did not think enough to fly their flags, last week on that memorable day. I know I had mine out and happy to be able

EAST DALLAS

While the furnace mechanic Mr. Ryman was getting over and I were having lunch together last week, he said, "my wife was not a very good cook when we were married, in fact I told her, she cooked religiously; it was either a burnt offering or a sacrifice." I really got a kick out of that.

I received another letter from Jessie Burket last week and will pass parts of it on to you who I know are interested. To you who have their former address, please note their new one: 208 E. Tycksen Drive, Farmington, New Mexi-

She wrote that she missed my column those weeks of my illness and trust that I am feeling better and getting my strength back. Yes Jessie I am coming along good.

Dear Irene: As you can see we have moved already. We had to have a larger house, for we were so cramped and no one had any privacy to speak of in the other house. We are paying $5.00 more rent per month and have a nice three bedroom bungalow with a front lawn and there is grass on it if you can imagine that. The back vard is fenced in and is quite large. We even have four or five trees.

"Bill and I were blessed with being able to attend reading classes for two weeks. I had better explain this by saying these classes were to teach to read Navajo. A Navajo lady taught the classes and they were intended to teach the Navajos to read their own language, but a lady at the Wycliff Bible Translators office invited us to attend, so we were very happy to have the opportunity. "It is so sad that the Navajo people do not take the opportunity to learn to read, for so many of them can not read or write in their language. The teacher was a little unhappy, for at the most, only about three or four came to the classes and they were women. 'We had a lot of laughs trying to say some of the words. She also took the time with Bill and I to teach us how to form sentences and the proper use of verbs. We learned a lot in the two weeks, and then she also invited us to attend an evening reading class two nights a week, in which we learn to read the bible.

"Oh, that is really hard, for some of the words are so long and I run out of breath before I finish the word. It is necessary to learn to read the Bible most of all for when we call on them at their homes this is what they expect and want.

"Even the Navajos that can read and speak Biligaana (white man's language) tell us that they understand better in Navajo even if they can speak English.

Last Thursday it rained all day. Outside of a few showers, that is the first real rain we have seen. But snow clouds are much in evidence today.

They have already had snow in Colorado a few times and we have been getting snow warnings from the weather

"Bill went to the reservation yesterday with a Navajo Pastor to have services. I would have loved to have gone but they went in a pickup and it was a hundred mile trip both ways and we can not take our car on the reservation.

"So the children and I rode over about 17 miles of the trip on the hard road and when it stopped, so did we. We can use our travel-all on the reservation but we did not happen to have it when we decided to go. The place that they went is the area that we may be working in. Lord willing.

"Bill said this man traveled about 60 miles an hour on the reservation roads so I am glad I did not ride with them. However this Pastor preached at the church in Fruitland at 11 o'clock and after a quick lunch left for the reservation. After having services there he had to be back in Fruitland for evening service at 6 p.m.

"If the services are later than that they would be in bed when the Missionary went to get them. (By THEY, I mean the Navajos).

"I would love to hear from anyone who would care to write. Until next time then, goodbye and take care of yourself. Jessie PS Give my regards to Vivian and Miriam, your daughter. Tell them I have heard from the "Rentz's. Their new baby girl is fine. They are in Georgia.'

The Rentz Family are former Orange residents, also doing Missionary work.
