cid to stay there despite the excruciating pain which I was undergoing. Suffering seemed appropriate at the moment.

Thomas and I immediately held a panel discussion between him, me, and Baby Whale, the third member of the household. Baby Whale was trying to sleep in his little trundle in the next room, inches away. He complimented the discussions with sporadic snores, grunts, and groans.

The topics for discussion included such fascinating theories as: "Life: The Joys And Sorrows of Living In a World of Unknown And Unexpected Happenings." "Friends: The Expectations, Qualities, and Needs Thereto Pertaining," and "Marriage: The Pros And Cons of Living In Shackles." After a brief discussion on each of these topics, we had thought we might continue by tackling an easier and less involved topic such as the campus riots.

However, a glance at our watches revealed that it was now 3:45 a.m., and we terminated the discussions post-haste.

Herein arose the problem. The sleeping facilities in the mobile straight-jacket are unusual. Three alternatives are offered to me each night, I may sleep in the back room with Tom in a queen-sized twin bed and lie awake all night being clumped in the head with arms, legs, and heads. Or, I could sleep in the dwarf-sized double bed currently occupied by Baby Whale. As his name relates his size, I immediately ruled out that possibility.

The third alternative is to sleep on the couch, which is analogous to an Indian fakir sleeping on the proverbial bed of nails.

Tom and I stood in the tiny cubicle between the middle and back bedrooms. This cubicle houses the bathroom. I was perplexed as to where to sleep, mentioning to Tom that I probably wouldn't sleep wherever I slept. For some reason, he reacted negatively to this statement and proceeded to push me into the bathtub. He then placed the roll of toilet paper behind my head and wished me pleasant dreams.

As he left, I instructed him as to what time to awaken me, and he quite emphatically informed me that if I stayed where I was I would be awakened abruptly when he got up to take his shower. Therefore, I slept on the bed of nails.

At any rate, the result of this whole situation is that I have now decided to petition the President of the United States suggesting that he do something about the current rotation of the earth around the sun. In my opinion, it would be more advantageous if day-time occurred between the hours of midnight and noon instead of vice-versa. It is between these hours that I am most awake. However, between the hours of noon and midnight, I am quite fatigued.

Therefore, would any of you who might be interested in signing such a petition, please send a copy of your signature to me immediately. Also enclose a check for $150.75 to cover mailing expenses.

each other causing considerable damage to all

No one was seriously hurt, thank heaven for that.

Mrs. Charlotte Banta of Orange is feeling much better. She is recuperating at her home.

Mrs. Marion Harvey is feeling much better and is up and about.

Mrs. Lynn Sheehan is feeling much better after having missed several days work with the Hong Kong Flu.

Mrs. Jack Rodgers is ill at her home on Main Road, Fernbrook with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. McCue of 34 Maplewood Ave., Dallas announce the engagement of their daughter Mary Ann McCue to Pvt. Richard L. Neuell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holden H. Neuell Jr., of Harveys Lake.

Mary Ann is a graduate of Dallas Senior High School, class of 1968, and is now cashier at Gavy's Economy Store in Shavertown.

Pvt. Neuell graduated from Dallas Senior High School, class of 1966. He is now stationed at Granite City Army Depot, Granite City, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morris, Overbrook Road, Fernbrook spent a few days recently with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Shaff of Allentown.

The Dallas Junior Women's Club held a white elephant sale Feb. 4 with Mrs. Charles Butler as cochairman.

Each member brought a gift and with it was written a jingle, which served as a clue to the contents. The proceeds were to help further the Club's projects.

Baa-baa, black sheep, have you any wool? Dallas Senior Womens Club is in need of 4-ply wool to be knitted into afghans, which they will send to Valley Forge Hospital to be used as lap robes.

The color of the wool doesn't matter or the amount, just so it is clean and usable. If you know of anyone who would like to donate some wool you may contact Mrs. Leonard Cowett or Mrs. John Williams.

Davene Lynn Williams has been ill with the flu. She has been very sick. Davene is a student at Westmoreland School, Trucksville.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Banta, Briarcrest Road, Idetown, had as their guest recently. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shonk and children from New Jersey. Mr. Shonk is Mrs. Banta's Brother.

Noxen cubs

Dens 3 and 4 of Cub Pack 530 from Noxen, got their money's worth last Thursday afternoon. Due to a slight delay in the guided tour, of the Dallas Post, each Cub got a special bonus, a target printed on heavy paper.

They also had time to sign the sheet, so that their names could be included in the story of their visit.

Don Weidner escorted them around the plant, explained that a hot lead process had now given way to offset, but showed them the linotype machines which have been clattering away for years until three months ago.

Denners who signed up were Jimmie DeRemer and Charles Lasher; assistant Denners, Neal Cook and Danny Jurista. Den Mothers: Lois Sesson, Barbara Lasher, and Betty Myers Jurista.

Cubs: Bruce Biggs, Ricky Denmon, Douglas Mahle, Robert Patton, Melvin Traver, Billy Sesson, Richie Sesson and Mike Sesson.

Guest was Patty Ann Lasher.
