

peace corps test February 15

Dallas area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 15 at Wilkes-Barre main post office.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. 20525.

dental health week here

On Monday, Feb. 3, as part of the Dental Health Week Program, Dr. Charles Lawley spoke to the health and human biology classes at Dallas Senior High School on proper dental care.

Dr. Lawley studied at Temple University and was graduated from medical school in 1966. He put his dental license to good use as an Air Force captain in Charleston, South Carolina, and is presently part of the Back Mountain Dental Clinic, Carverton Road, Trucksville.

The Luzerne County Dental Association in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Health Department, invited Dr. Lawley to speak to the health and human biology classes, and to acquaint students with the intricacies of the teeth.

Aided by charts, Dr. Lawley instructed his audiences in the structure and nature of teeth, preventive maintenance, dental facts, and even with some of the special techniques of a dentist.

He stressed the advantages of fluoride and the importance of a proper diet, showed correct brushing procedures, and mentioned points of interest such as the fact that 30 to 40 per cent of the braces worn today would be unnecessary if proper care had been given to baby teeth.

Dr. Lawley also tried to impress upon the students the growing need for dentists, especially in this area, and the many opportunities open in the career of dentistry.

The Dallas School District also operates a Dental Clinic, every Thursday morning in the Dallas Senior High School. Dr. Anthony W. Kutz, Dallas, is the dentist for this program, assisted by Mrs. Doris P. Wolfe, dental hygienist.

DALLAS SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

By CHERYL FUTCH and SCOTT PETERMAN

Members of the Junior Class are now in rehearsal for this year's Junior Play, entitled "I Remember Mama." The play is a dramatic comedy centering around the lives of an immigrant family living in San Francisco in the early 1900's.

Due to the fact that this is a period play, costumes are needed to provide authenticity. The costume committee will appreciate hearing from members of the community who may have clothing from this period to lend for the evenings of the play.

Students from the Junior Class will be traveling in the community on Feb. 13 and 14 conducting the Junior Play Patron drive. Contributions will be gratefully appreciated.

Members of the community are invited to attend performances of the play on March 13 and 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Junior class or at the door on the evenings of the performances.

Keyettes
The Circle K from Luzerne County Community College invited the Keyettes of Dallas to participate in a program that involves taking care of underprivileged children from the Wilkes-Barre area.

Every other Saturday, the Keyettes help out by tutoring in the morning. After a 12 to 1 lunch break provided by the local restaurants they take the children to the movies, historical societies, etc.

L.C.C.C. intend to broaden the program by inviting the St. Stanislaus and St. Michael's schools. Mr. George McCutcheon is in charge of the program.

Girls' Basketball
The second half of girls' basketball season is already well underway, with Dallas hosting Lehman and Nanticoke this week.

Cheryl Hontz, a sophomore member of the J.V. team, was hospitalized with injuries received last, Thursday, during the Wyoming Valley West game. We hope it is a speedy recovery, Cheryl.

Fashion and Design
Guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Fashion and Design Club was the Avon area manager, Mrs. Cloak. Mrs. Cloak showed two films, one of them on perfumes and their origin—an interesting subject.

District Orchestra
The art classes cleverly decorated the front window and cafeteria walls. Mr. Lewis ran frantically back and forth attending to last minute details. The cafeteria staff prepared to work overtime in order to keep up the energy of the musicians. Choristers donned their new uniforms to act as guides. And then Thursday morning dawned.

Select musicians poured in from all over the state to participate in the annual District Orchestra which Dallas is privileged to host this year.

So, without permission, of course, I slipped into the back of the auditorium to watch part of the rehearsal, hoping my press card would get me out of any trouble I might happen to get into.

Up on stage, Mr. Keith Brown of Temple University, was painstakingly rehearsing with the brass section. His enthusiasm was conveyed by the players, and within seconds I was totally lost in the music.

The orchestra played for the school Friday afternoon, and the public performance was given Saturday night. I can't think of any adjective other than "encompassing" to describe the result of this combined effort of talented high school musicians.

A special thanks to those area families who took an out-of-town student into their home for the weekend, and to everyone else who helped make District Orchestra possible.

Happy Valentine's Day

three agencies in deer study

A cooperative study to determine the effect of deer on vegetation, and food supplies on deer, has been launched in northern Huntingdon County by the Pennsylvania Game Commission, the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters and the Pennsylvania State University.

Game managers and foresters have long been in need of better information on deer carrying capacity of forests at various stages of growth. Individual determinations made in the past, such as through measuring the amount of available winter browse, have not been fully accurate in showing how many whitetails a range will support.

The project is unique in that it is the first such known study in an oak-hickory forest type.

Knowledge expected to be gained in this research will be especially valuable to the wildlife manager in maintaining a deer herd in balance with available food supplies.
