Joan Huegel, Dallas, looks on while her daughter, Kim, has the cast removed by Dr. Harry A. Smith assisted by Mrs. Herbert Hawke, R.N.

Kim received help with Easter seals

Since December 1965, Kim Huegel has been under the care of the Wyoming Valley Crippled Children's Association's Rehabilitation Center. More recently, Dr. Harry A. Smith, Wilkes-Barre, performed an operation to lengthen the tendon of Kim's heel so that she would walk with a more normal gait. In addition to the operation, Kim, daughter of Joan Huegel, Baldwin Street, Dallas, receives physical therapy.

Kim, who is five and attends school at the Kirby Health Center, is now able to walk because of the treatment she has received.

There are 815 handicapped children in Wyoming Valley who receive services from the WVCCA Rehabilitation Center. The Easter Seal Campaign helps provide the funds necessary to continue these services.

Mrs. Edward Darling, chairman of the 1970 campaign, has announced that this year the goal is $30,000. The funds are raised through the sale of Easter seals, which are sent through the mails only, and Coffee Day, which is today. Coffee Day is a special project. Waitresses in participating restaurants sell BAC (Buck-A-Cup or Brace-A-Child) Buttons and all purchasers of the buttons are entitled to free coffee.

Victory March go ahead given

The March for Victory in Washington, D.C., has been scheduled to begin at 12 noon April 4, according to an announcement by Dr. Carl McIntire, chairman of the March.

Pennsylvania Avenue, the historic, main presidential route from the White House to the capitol, which was used by the November 15 moratorium, was secured for the "March" in February.

Marchers will assemble at 11 a.m. in the Mall area west of Third Street in front of the capitol, proceed up Pennsylvania Avenue to 15th Street, and then move to the Washington Monument. The route is about one and a quarter miles.

According to Dr. McIntire, "all the matters relative to permits as they concern the Mall and the Monument grounds have been cared for." The rally will take place at the Ellipse at 2 p.m.

The "March" is sponsored by the International Council
