

pony and children highlight show

More than 3,000 persons attended the fifth annual Idetown Horse Show each day at the horse show grounds, Lehman, Aug. 15 and 16. Those in attendance at the affair sponsored by the Jonathan R. Davis Fire Company, had the opportunity to view performances by the Northeastern Pennsylvania Ripcord Sky Diving club.

The Ripcords are among the finest parachutists in the Country with each of the three men averaging 800 jumps.

Another highlight of the show was the presentation of the dapple grey pony, saddle, bridle and breast collar which were chanced off by the fire company and won by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bicking, Dallas. The Bickings turned the pony over to the show to be auctioned off. A proud grandfather, Byron Kester, Demunds Road, Centermoreland, purchased the little animal for two great grandchildren, Roger and Susan Belles, children of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Belles, Centermoreland.

The high point Western Trophy, which consisted of a Western saddle, bridle and breast collar, was won by Lisa Gilbert, York, who rode Tweed Coat.

The horsemen and spectators were kept busy with contestants in classes in both English and Western categories.

Idetown Horse Show chairman Ed Gilmer said he extends thanks to everyone who helped during the show. They did such an outstanding job.

PARK NEARS COMPLETION

on Phase I of the project for adequate parking. Some suggested that since at present there is unused space on the site of Phase II, the area across from Phase I on Burndale Road, it could be temporarily used for parking.

Mr. McCutcheon read the Grant Contract which is drawn up between Pennsylvania State Recreation Division, Harrisburg, and the Borough Recreation Board. It was stated in the contract that Dallas Borough had been granted $13,255.00 for the Phase I of the recreation project. The total cost of construction on the 175x250 foot site is $26,510. The contract, which terminates Dec. 31, also stated that there was to be no discrimination; that records of everything pertaining to the program are subject to audit prior to final reimbursement, and that the board must repay any of the amount not used.

Two youths, Arlene Kozick, Machell Avenue, and Peter Shiner, Sterling, were present at the meeting and will serve on the board in the future.

A meeting of the Recreation Board is scheduled Aug. 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Borough Building at which time bids on athletic equipment will be reviewed.

TEACHERS PROTEST

Mr. LaBerge said that several points in the letter are in conflict with what actually happened. He said it is the responsibility of the board to set the school calendar and that the teachers knew the board was considering modification of the school day and school calendar.

Earl Fritzges, board member, said he was "not going to abdicate my responsibilities to the teachers." He said he felt his responsibilities as a member of the board and as a representative of the taxpayers.

Mr. Helgemo said he understood the teachers were to have voice in how the additional time was to be used and that the teachers did not know there would be two additional teaching days. Mr. LaBerge replied that this matter had been discussed.

checks distributed for Police Pension

Checks totaling $13,199,877.30 have been mailed by the Dept. of the Auditor General, Harrisburg, to 795 municipalities for Police Pension Funds, according to an announcement made recently by Robert P. Casey, auditor general. It was the largest distribution in history, totaling $1,661,898.27 more than last year.

Luzerne County received a total of $292,096.31, with $2,647.22 going to Dallas Borough; $6,364.87 to Kingston Township, and $2,700.31 going to Lehman Township.

The largest single payment,

$2,500,952.14 was made to the city of Philadelphia. The second largest was in the amount of $2,201,241.01 to the State Employees' Retirement Board which will be applied toward the pension benefits of the Pennsylvania State Police.

The annual distribution is realized from a two percent tax upon the gross premiums received by foreign (out-of-state) casualty insurance companies.

Mr. Casey said $111,579.68 is being withheld from municipalities pending correction of violations of regulations established for the administration of these funds.

Water pollution control specialist Paul Koval of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, Kingston, holds a vial of sewage water he obtained July 10 on the proposed Dallas Park land, Luzerne Avenue and Burndale Road. A state health department laboratory analysis of the specimen indicated "high fecal content."

Harveys Lake man gets Fulbright award

The Fulbright Scholarship program, as is everything else, is feeling the economic belt growing taut about its academic waistline. There have been fewer awards made in recent years with greater screening of the initially stringent application qualifications. So when a Fulbright covering a full year's expenses abroad is awarded there is just provocation for rejoicing.

Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, has received word from the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare that Herbert Quick of Harveys Lake, RD 1, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to teach in England this coming year. Mr. Quick is chairman of the language department at Wyoming Seminary. He will take a year's leave of absence from teaching responsibilities under a newly inaugurated sabbatical program recently passed by the school's Board of Trustees.

In announcing Mr. Quick's Fulbright award, Wallace F. Settler, president of Wyoming Seminary, said, "Residents of the Back Mountain area have still another reason for taking pride in their citizenry. We at Seminary are confident that Mr. Quick's experiences during the coming year will not only be rewarding to our school and its faculty, but to the community whose standards the Quicks' exemplify."

Mr. Quick and his wife, the former Gwen Evans, will leave for England at the end of the month with their daughter, Kathryn. They will live at Crediton, Devon, in southwestern England, where he will teach French at Queen Elizabeth's School. His wife is a former Fulbright recipient, having taught in France in 1959.

The Fulbright Scholarship program in which Mr. Quick will participate is one of six areas, all assigned to, "... increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and people of other countries." General eligibility requirements of the Fulbright Program include the equivalent professional status of the Ph.D., and at least three years teaching experience on the secondary level.

Mr. Quick is a native of Endicott, N.Y. and a graduate of Wyalusing High School and Wilkes College. He studied at McGill University and the Sorbonne, and received the Master's degree in French from Middlebury College. He taught at Thurmont High School, Thurmont, Md., and at the Ecole Nouvelle, Chailly-sur-Lausanne, Switzerland, before joining the faculty of Wyoming Seminary in 1957.

major air pollutants

...In recent years the devastating effects of air pollution have contributed to increased lung-cancer and respiratory diseases and cost this country yearly an estimated $11 billion.

The pollutants are based on information contained in documents published by the National Air Pollution Control Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and from reports prepared by Litton Industries, Inc., under NAPCA contract.

Series 1—ARSENIC AND ITS COMPOUNDS—A brittle, very poisonous chemical element. Major sources are: smelters processing gold and copper; cotton ginning and the burning of cotton trash; use as pesticide; combustion.

Effects on humans, animals and plants—Arsenical dusts may produce dermatitis, bronchitis and irritation of the upper respiratory tract. Use of medicines containing arsenic has produced growths and cancers of the skin. The relationship of arsenic to other types of cancer, particularly lung tumors, is uncertain. Herbivorous animals have been poisoned after eating plants contaminated with arsenic compounds.

Abatement and Control Methods—1. Use of air cleaning devices to remove particulates from smelters and cotton gins. Equipment must operate at temperature low enough (100 degrees centigrade to condense arsenic fumes. Electrostatic precipitators, cooling flues, bag houses, especially those using wet scrubbing vacuum pumps instead of fabric filters. 2. No methods available to control emissions produced by burning cotton trash.
