'no pest' strips harmful to food

State Agriculture Secretary Leland H. Bull has requested Pennsylvania food processing firms, retail food stores, and dairy farms to discontinue the use of Vapona "No Pest" strips in food areas.

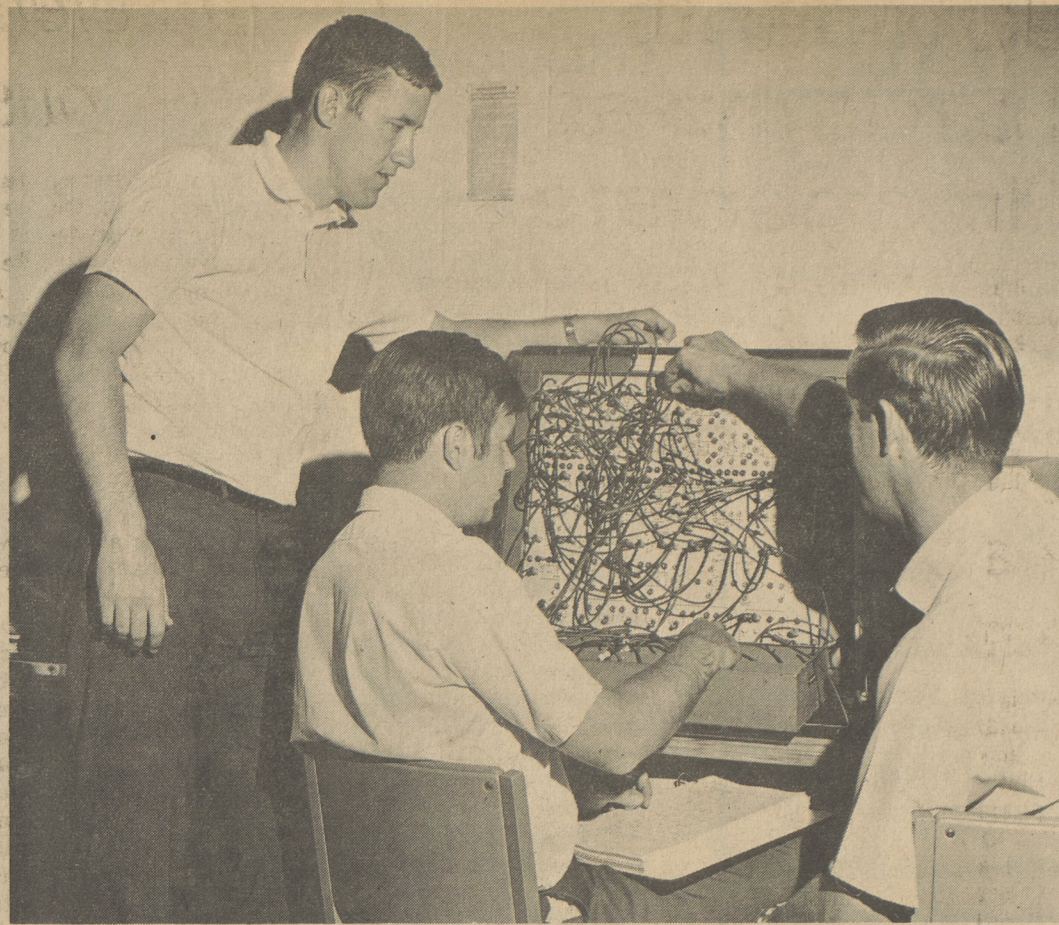

The pesticide strips are used to control flies, mosquitoes, gnats and other flying insects.

Sec. Bull said vapors from the strips can lodge on processing equipment, food cartons and foods to produce undesirable residues.

He said use of the strips is illegal under the state's General Food Law because the vapors can become incorporated in the food and adulterate it.

The Department's food inspectors and milk sanitarians have been instructed to contact people in the food industry and request them not to use the strips, Sec. Bull said.

Food inspectors check bottlers, canners, bakeries, candy plants, retail food stores and soft ice cream establishments. Milk sanitarians inspect dairy farms, dairies and ice cream manufacturing plants.

To keep the wires HUMMMING

Our construction crews place miles and miles of new cable every year to meet the increasing demands of you, our customers. In some new installations, much of it is buried underground. But underground or above ground, it's a big job, and it keeps our men busy all year round. They make repairs, too, whether in the blistering heat of summer or the freezing cold of winter. In fact, with the help of these trained, dedicated men, our entire cable construction and repair program is designed to fulfill one need — to keep the wires humming with your calls.
